Champs

Q. Is it true that the 1948 Jordan High School football team was the only Jordan team to ever beat both Poly and Wilson the same season? Who was the coach that year, and what were the scores of both games? H.H.H., Lakewood.

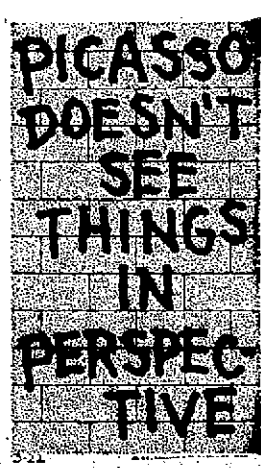

A. The 1947, not 1948, football team defeated both Poly and Wilson, and became city champs. Coached by Ernie Radford, the '47 Jordan team beat Poly 7 to 6 and Wilson 27 to 12. This was the only team in Jordan's history to defeat both schools in the same year, according to a spokesman for the Jordan athletic department.

Fresh Ground

Q. My husband is ill and has to have all his food ground up. Where can I purchase an electric meat grinder for home use? J.W., Torrance.

A. Pioneer Restaurant Equipment Co., 711 W. Sixteenth St., Long Beach, can special-order a Rival Electric Food Grinder for you. The cost would be between $40 and $50. Astro Bar & Restaurant Equipment, 6138 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, can special-order a small, commercial meat grinder for you called Intedge Model C-4. The grinder will process four pounds per minute. The cost is $139.50 plus tax. The electrical department of Sears Roebuck and Co., 450 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, carries a Hostess Power Unit for $24.95. You can purchase a meat grinder attachment for the unit for $8. Other attachments which can be purchased are an ice crusher, salad mixer, knife sharpener and can opener. Hobart Manufacturing Co., 6459 Long Beach Blvd., makes a Kitchen Aid mixer to which you can attach a meat grinder. The mixers range in price from $74.50 to $169.95. The grinder attachment costs $13.95.

Girl Guide

Q. Is the little girl in the movie "Baby, the Rain Must Fall" the same girl who played Scout in "To Kill a Mockingbird"? I think she is, but am not sure. Mrs. S.F., Long Beach.

A. Young Kimberley Block played Steve McQueen's daughter in Columbia's "Baby, the Rain Must Fall," but it was the winsome Mary Badham who played the serious yet impish Scout in "To Kill a Mockingbird," produced by Universal Studio. Mary, who was 9 years old when the 1963 film was made, was nominated for an Academy Award for her performance as Gregory Peck's daughter in the movie version of Harper Lee's best-selling novel. Mary, a native of Birmingham, Ala., still acts occasionally.

Sing-In

Q. In 1923, my father and his brother won awards in the California Eisteddfod musical competition. I'd like to know if this event still is held. R.A.W., Seal Beach.

A. The California Eisteddfod has not been held for many years, according to musicians in music departments at UCLA and California State College at Long Beach. No one is sure when the last one was held, but it seems that no single sponsoring group could coordinate the many vocalists needed for a successful competition. Rees Williams, a Welshman living in Long Beach, said the original Eisteddfod Festival still is held in Wales each July. Attracting vocalists and vocal groups from the hills and cities of the musical country, the Welsh Eisteddfod is a week of "music and more music" as chorale groups and individuals compete and harmonize. Williams, who has won several Eisteddfod awards himself, said the festival is several score years old, and is closed each year by all of the competing singers joining to sing Handel's entire "Messiah."

Divide and Conquer

Q. There are nicely landscaped center dividers in Ocean Boulevard for blocks in the downtown section except for about half a block on either side of the Long Beach Boulevard intersection. Why were the attractive dividers not installed there as well. M.J., Long Beach.

A. John Williams of the city manager's office told ACTION LINE that landscaped center dividers will be installed along that short stretch after the planned Pacific Terrace Plaza Center is completed in late 1971. "Parking for the new complex will be partially underground and will be built with most of it stretching beneath Ocean Blvd.," Williams explained. "We felt it would be a waste of public funds to install the concrete dividers and then tear them out again when construction gets under way for the subterranean parking areas. As soon as the center is finished, that little stretch of Ocean Boulevard will be divided with concrete like the other sections of the street."

Fullbright Accuses
Secretary of ABM
Fear-Mongering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Friday the Russians are building a capability to devastate the United States with one surprise nuclear attack. A Senate critic accused him of fear-mongering to win support for an antimissile system.

Under heavy fire for the first time in two days of Senate hearings, Laird

NEW YORK (UPI) — A nationwide poll indicated that nearly two of three Americans support President Nixon in his decision to install a modified antiballistic missile system to protect against any Chinese attack, Sindlinger & Company, Inc., announced Friday. Sindlinger said a survey of 1,498 U.S. adults aged 18 and over showed that almost as many thought the President was wise in making his decision now rather than putting it off a year or so.

warned that Soviet construction of new, high-megaton intercontinental ballistic missiles meant they were "going for a first strike, and there is no question about that."

IN NUCLEAR parlance, a first-strike capability is the means to launch an attack so destructive that the other side is unable to retaliate with more than a minor counter assault, if at all.

Laird argued for protection of U.S. missile sites with the Nixon Administration's Safeguard antiballistic missile system (ABM), but some members of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee on disarmament were unimpressed.

Scowling darkly, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told the hearing that the Pentagon was exaggerating the Soviet threat.

"This happens all the time," Fulbright said. "In discussing the Russians' military capacity, they suddenly become men 10 feet tall ... The military always makes the Russians as if they are about to do things they are going to overwhelm us."

He called it a "technique of salesmanship" also used by former Defense Secretaries Robert S. McNamara and Clark M. Clifford. "Of course they (the Russians) are trying to catch up, but nobody — and you don't when it's put to you that way — asserts that they are equal or ahead of us," he told Laird.

"But this is a kind of a technique of fear that is supposed to precipitate acceptance of these great programs," Fulbright said.

At any rate, he added, the ABM would not change anything. "I'm President and Mrs. Nixon relaxed at a palatial oceanfront mansion at San Clemente Friday night after arriving in the southland during a driving rain-storm.

The Presidential party stayed in the Spanish-style tile-roofed stucco hacienda built by the late Hamilton H. Cotton when he helped subdivide San Clemente in the early 1930s. The residence is on a 14-acre retreat of pas-

The President and Mrs. Nixon will visit Mission San Juan Capistrano this morning, have luncheon at a Spanish restaurant he said "is a favorite place," and then return to the mansion for high-level conferences on the Viet Nam war.

The nation's First Family will return to Washington Sunday.

Nixon and his party landed at Point Mugu Naval Air Station near Oxnard, exactly on time Friday afternoon.

THE SLEEK Air Force One touched down only minutes after a battalion of Seabees returned from the war zone. The men stood at attention as the President arrived, and he and Mrs. Nixon then walked their ranks, stopping to talk with several of the men.

Nixon toured the oil-lainted Santa Barbara beaches, flew near the offshore oil island where an underwater rupture occurred Jan. 28, and headed for nearby Anacapa Island to inspect the contamination.

His helicopter landed at Santa Barbara's Ledbetter Beach, but the President found few oil stains to remind him of the seepage which spilled an estimated 240,000 gallons of crude oil before the break was plugged Feb. 7.

Three men, garbed in oilskins and armed with rakes, were cleaning the beach as Nixon arrived. He stopped to chat with

Doctors Reveal Ike
Had Another Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered a temporary congestive heart failure last Saturday, and his physicians are now more concerned about his underlying heart condition than at any other time in his 14 years of cardiac trouble.

The Associated Press learned this Friday in answers to questions submitted to the 78-year-old general's Army doctors.

The queries were inspired by remarks made by Mrs. Eisenhower at a fashion show Wednesday, and a brief, and little-noticed medical bulletin put out the same day by doctors of the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital where Eisenhower has been a patient since May 14.

Mrs. Eisenhower reported that her husband "has good days and bad days," and that last Saturday was a particularly bad one for him — so bad that "I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours" while keeping watch near the general's bedside.

The Walter Reed doctors reported in their Wednesday bulletin — issued after President Nixon had visited Eisenhower for 20 minutes — that Eisenhower has recovered from the immediate effects of his recent major surgery for a gastrointestinal obstruction, but that he "continues to be weak and his cardiovascular status remains a matter of concern to his physicians."

Congestive heart failure, apparently a relatively chronic condition in Eisenhower's case, is a condition wherein one or more chambers of the heart fail to empty adequately during the heart's pumping action. This can lead to a congestive accumulation of fluids in blood vessels supplying the lungs, or other parts of the body, or both.

Episodes can be triggered by various adverse factors — some of them intrinsic to the heart itself, some of them extrinsic.

The worst potential type is that associated with a past history of myocardial infarction — damage to heart muscle from coronary heart attacks — such as Eisenhower has had.

The hospital issued a medical bulletin late Friday saying that "the general's condition today is favorable ... he is resting comfortably and his spirits are good."

Storm Hits
L.B. With Rain, Hail

By BILL HOMER

Rain and hail pelted Long Beach Friday as a fast-moving storm struck the area, accompanied by cold, brisk winds, thunder and lightning.

At least two lives were claimed by the blustery weather system. Joseph Griffith, 41, of Duarte, and Randolph Landon, 20, Los Angeles, were killed near Pico Rivera when the cars in which they were passengers collided on rain-slick Rosemead Boulevard about 3:30 p.m. Highway Patrol officers said one of the cars skidded and rammed the other head-on. Both drivers were listed in serious condition at Pico Rivera Community Hospital.

THE STORM dropped more than .29 of an inch of rain on downtown Long Beach by Friday evening, and 1.23 inches were reported in the Civic Center section of Los Angeles. New damage to hillside homes from earthslides was threatened.

As much as .26 of an inch of rain was recorded at Long Beach Airport by Friday evening, and most

BALKY CAR FOILS
TOY GUN ROBBERY

A bandit suspect was captured on the roof of a nearby theater Friday after robbing a Bank of America branch in Torrance and cowing a teller with what turned out to be a toy gun.

Police said William Edward Wallenbeck, 26, who gave an Ingelwood hotel as his address, also was foiled in an attempt to start a reportedly stolen car to make his getaway.

Torrance officers were told that Wallenbeck got $626 from a teller at the bank, 25435 Crenshaw Blvd., shortly before noon, and walked out to the bank parking lot, where he tried several times to start the presumed getaway car by crossing ignition wires. Each time, witnesses reported, the engine coughed and died.

The suspect, pursued by Wayne Weible, a bank executive, then ran to the Rolling Hills Theater, 2535 Pacific Coast Highway, where he climbed to the roof. Weible directed Torrance officers to the roof and Wallenbeck surrendered without a struggle.

Arresting officers, who confiscated the toy weapon and what they said was the bank's stolen money in $1 and $5 bills, quoted the captured man as saying, "If it had been a real gun, I would have shot it out with you guys."

More of Orange County
Beach Area Quarantined

Easter vacation beachgoers got bad news Friday when Orange County widened the quarantine of a strip of Huntington Beach State Park and barred them from the surf.

Extreme pollution from February's record storms caused the action to be taken, according to Dr. John Philp, county health officer.

Philp said cleanup of the area — which starts during the Easter vacation — will take weeks to complete. It may extend into summer, he said. Southerly swells and surges have pushed the contaminated Santa Ana River flow to the north boundary of Huntington Beach State Park, Philp said, and the area now is quarantined along with West Newport.

PHILP QUARANTINED the area immediately surrounding the river mouth in late February.

A million gallons of raw sewage daily is flowing into the Santa Ana River from a City of Riverside sewer line break not yet repaired. Philp said repairs won't begin for "about three weeks" and it will take weeks more to purge the river and the beaches of contamination.

ORANGE COUNTY'S coastal cities, notably Newport Beach, have long been preferred haunts of vacationing college and high school students. This year they will be joined by thousands who will abandon Santa Barbara County beaches because of seepage of so much oil from Union Oil Co.'s offshore drilling platform.

Rockets, Mortar Hit Key U.S. Bases

Combined News Services

SAIGON, Saturday — Communists hurled rocket and mortar fire into four major U.S. military bases and at least 21 other Allied installations in Vietnam Friday night and early today. Authorities reporting the attacks said damage and casualties from the shelling were light. Two Americans were killed, however, in a Viet Cong ground assault on a U.S. Army engineers outpost northeast of Saigon. The four major bases hit by the latest round of shelling were:

Headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry division at Dong Tam; Headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry brigade at Tay Ninh; U.S. Air Force Aerial Reconnaissance Headquarters for the Saigon area at the airbase at Vung Tau; and U.S. Air Force headquarters for an F-100 Tactical Fighter Wing at the air field at Phan Rang.

In the only major ground action, a platoon of Communists moved in behind a barrage of rocket and mortar fire against an Army engineers base at Kontum. They damaged some equipment and killed two Americans. Two Communists were killed.

State of Emergency to End

MADRID — The Spanish government Tuesday will lift the state of emergency that has restricted the civil and constitutional rights of its citizens for the past eight weeks, Information Minister Manuel Fraga announced Friday night. Censorship of the press and broadcasting media also will be removed, he said. Fraga blamed "subversive outbreaks" for having caused the state of emergency to be imposed.

Russ Award Medals for Bravery

MOSCOW — Four soldiers were declared heroes of the Soviet Union Friday for their bravery in fighting Red Chinese troops in recent border incidents. The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) bestowed the award, the nation's highest military honor. But the Soviet Press Friday made no mention of any new battles along the frozen Ussuri River border.

The first company will be withdrawn at the beginning of the week and the second will follow in about a week, according to a defense ministry statement.

Cost of Building Houses Skyrockets

NEW YORK — If you plan to buy a house this spring, forget about last year's prices and don't laugh when the salesman tells you "this place is a steal at $40,000." Higher interest charges on mortgages, higher taxes and insurance and rising costs of lumber and other materials have sent house prices skyrocketing. More increases are in prospect. "Costs have gone up 10 per cent in the last year," said Milton Brock of M.J. Brock & Sons, Los Angeles builder. Bernard Janis, president of Janis Corp., of Miami, Fla., estimated the cost of a $30,000 home has risen 20 per cent in the past year and will rise 10 per cent more to about $39,500 in the next six months. "The cost of lumber rose 50 per cent in the past six months," he said. "Why? Who's the one pushing it up? Most of our lumber comes from the big Douglas fir mills on the West Coast, and they're selling to the government and Japan at inflated prices. We've got to pay their prices to get the materials we need." Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Home Builders, said the average mortgage interest rate has risen from 6 per cent to 8 per cent in the last two years. And the increase of banks' prime lending rate Monday to an all-time high of 7½ per cent from 7 per cent indicates that home buyers face even higher financing charges.

Battle to Keep Ship Afloat

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. Coast Guard struggled Friday night against a massive lead in the listing Peruvian freighter Yavari, 950 miles southwest of San Francisco. A spokesman said the men off the cutter Barataria, reported their two pumps, with a capacity of 500 gallons a minute, were only able "to keep abreast" of the leak. The nature or source of the damage was not reported. The Yavari is drifting about 950 miles southwest of San Francisco.

Finch Makes Plea for Welfare

WASHINGTON — Repeal of the impending freeze on federal aid to families with dependent children was recommended Friday by the secretary of health, education and welfare. Secretary Robert H. Finch noted that the limitation written into the Social Security Act of 1967 is scheduled to take effect July 1. Finch said he will urge Congress to eliminate the limitation on federal funds in this area of welfare because it "is not the way to curb welfare costs — it works undue hardship on needy children."

Oil Regulations Tightened

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel toughened federal regulation of oil drilling off the California coast Friday and established a 55,000 acre "off limits" area Near Santa Barbara, scene of the oil pollution episode in January. The new regulations, described as the toughest in history, will apply only to the federal offshore drilling operations off California for the time being but Hickel told a news conference they may be applied elsewhere later. In general, they require drillers to install better protective devices to safeguard against blow-outs.

6th Nuclear Test of 1969

YUCCA FLATS — The sixth underground nuclear test of the year at the Nevada test site was detonated Friday at the bottom of a 1,525 foot vertical shaft. PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

'Most Wanted Woman' Pleads Innocent

Combined News Service

Ruth Eisemann-Schier, the first woman ever to be included on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals, pleaded innocent Friday to charges of kidnaping Florida land heiress Barbara Jane Mackle.

Her trial was set for June 16, nearly one month after her alleged accomplice, Gary Steven Krist, is tentatively scheduled to stand trial.

Miss Mackle was abducted from a motel in suburban Decatur where she and her mother were staying last December. Her kidnapers hid her in a coffin-like box which they buried outside Atlanta until Miss Mackle's millionaire father, land developer Robert Mackle, ransomed her for $500,000. Most of the money was later recovered.

Friday's arraignment was before Dekalb County Superior Court Judge H. O. Hubert Jr. in Decatur. Hubert appointed two attorneys — Leroy Hobbs and Tom Elliott — for the petite Miss Eisemann-Schier, a native of Honduras, after she told the court she could not afford an attorney.

Krist previously was arraigned and will have a sanity hearing April 21. If he is adjudged sane, his trial is set for May 19.

CONTRADICTS STORY OF SHORT DATE

Prime Minister John G. Gorton came under new political fire Friday after a 19-year-old woman reporter contradicted details in Gorton's account of their visit late at night to the home of U.S. ambassador William H. Crook. The reporter, Miss Geraldine Willesee of Perth, disagreed with Gorton about the circumstances and length of their visit.

Gorton said in parliament that he, Miss Willesee and his secretary arrived at the embassy (the ambassador's residence) around midnight, had a drink and left about a half-hour later. Miss Willesee said they had had three drinks and left at "approximately 3 a.m."

Sen. Willesee, Geraldine's father, said in a statement to newsmen that his daughter was "delivered safely home" after the call at the embassy.

The meeting with Prime Minister Ernesto Montagne and Foreign Minister Edgardo Mercado comes after the seizure by Peruvian gunboats Wednesday of two U.S. tuna boats 30 miles off the coast. The boats were released after paying heavy fines.

COHN-BENDIT

Daniel "Danny the Red" Cohn-Bendit, who played a prominent role in last spring's Paris student uprising, demonstrated Friday in a Rome square and shouted anti-Soviet slogans. The demonstrators denounced the "aggression of the Soviet revisionists against China" and protested what they said was a new "holy alliance" between Moscow and Washington.

'Sirhan Becomes Wild Beast After Drinking'

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, the admitted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy became a "wild beast" after drinking six ounces of alcohol in tests conducted in his jail cell, a court-appointed psychiatrist testified Friday.

"He swore at me . . . at Jews . . . at Kennedy . . . just ranted and raved around the cell and finally had to be restrained physically," Dr. Eric H. Marcus related.

The Beverly Hills psychiatrist was the fifth psychologist or psychiatrist to take the stand at the young Jordanian's murder trial and testify he was and is mentally ill. A sixth psychiatrist, Dr. Bernard J. Dimond, followed Dr. Marcus to the stand and backed up the others' diagnoses.

THE ALCOHOL — six ounces of gin which Sirhan consumed in some 18 minutes — was given, the doctor said, to determine if the defendant had any brain wave abnormalities. The brain waves were normal, Dr. Marcus testified, but apparently nothing else was.

"Psychologically he went berserk . . . became irritated, nervous, agitated, cursing and had to be physically restrained in order to take the tests."

In the beginning, Dr. Marcus said, the Arab nationalist was "very friendly and polite" but after drinking the alcohol, his first words to the psychiatrist were: "Get that bastard out of here!"

Apparently, the doctor admitted, his Jewish ancestry upset Sirhan.

"He (Sirhan) kept grabbing for his throat, and I thought he was choking. When someone finally mentioned my name again he told them to get me out that he hated my guts."

Sirhan also kept ranting, Dr. Marcus said, about the Jews and Kennedy.

"HE YELLED, '20 years is long enough for the Jews . . . it's our turn.' He said I was 'one of them' and tried to get me thrown out. At one point he thought I was his brother and kept wanting me to speak Arabic and drive him home. He thought the guards were Israeli soldiers."

"When I kept asking him to describe killing Kennedy, he wouldn't. He said 'that bastard isn't worth the bullets'."

Earlier Dr. Marcus had said, under cross examination by Deputy District Attorney David Fitts, that Sirhan "most likely didn't have bona fide amnesia and is quite possibly lying when he says he can't remember shooting Kennedy."

His failure to ask questions of officers who arrested him on the reasons for his arrest, indicated, Dr. Marcus said, that he was lying.

"An amnesia victim would automatically ask what had happened during his lapse of memory," the doctor said. "However, he added later under redirect examination by defense attorneys, 'he may have been in a dissociate state when he was arrested.'"

"In any event," the doctor added, "whether or not he is lying doesn't change my diagnosis that he is mentally ill."

AS FAR as "maturely premeditating" — a necessary point for conviction of first degree murder — Dr. Marcus said he could do so "as far as a dog . . . or pet . . . or even another human being is concerned." But when it came to the New York senator, Dr. Marcus said, he could not maturely premeditate because "Kennedy had a definite bearing on his mistaken political beliefs . . . his area of mental conflict."

The questioning of Dr. Marcus was interrupted by the loud rumble of thunder and at one point the courtroom lights went out — but emergency lighting set up in case of just such an emergency — snapped on. Regular power was resumed within moments. (The emergency lighting was installed because the courtroom — the light from windows sealed out by steel plates — is pitch black.)

The key defense witness, Dr. Bernard J. Dimond followed Dr. Marcus to the stand, and in a scholarly, schoolroom manner told of his meeting with Sirhan and his impressions.

THE HAWK-FACED professor from the University of California at Berkeley and the University of San Francisco, said Sirhan was "more than willing to tell me he shot and killed Kennedy."

"He said Kennedy was an enemy of his people — the Arabs — and he had to kill him to prevent him from going through with his promise to help Israel. He did not discuss the shooting (of Kennedy) or his notebooks because he said he had no memory of either."

"Sirhan's story was that on Sunday night he went to the Ambassador Hotel for the express purpose of seeing Senator Kennedy. He denied he had any plan to harm the senator.

"He expressed, in a very passionate voice, his love of Sen. Kennedy, and said he was a great admirer of President Kennedy. He looked on them as protectors of the underdog and the politicians able to do the most for his people."

Sirhan didn't see Kennedy Sunday, Dr. Dimond testified the young Jordanian told him, but he went down to the area of the Ambassador Hotel again on Tuesday to see a parade he thought was being held that day — "celebrating the Israeli victory over the Arabs."

"THIS IS typical of what Jews do — they come to Los Angeles to gloat over their victory," Dr. Dimond quoted Sirhan as saying.

"Sirhan drove up and down Wilshire looking for the Jew parade and feeling more and more angry and confused . . . he finally saw a sign announcing a Rafferty meeting at the Ambassador and said he knew Rafferty's daughter, Kathleen, so went to the Rafferty meeting and wandered around looking for her."

(Here Sirhan's story to Dimond and his story from the witness stand differ. From the stand he said he overheard some boys say there was a "bigger party" at the Ambassador and went there, and just "happened" on the Rafferty party.)

"He told me," the greying psychiatrist said, "that he was drawn to Kennedy like a magnet. He would say 'I loved him . . . I hated him' in the same breath. He said he had a number of drinks — and was unable to say how many — was unable to see Kennedy so decided to go home."

"He went to his car, but felt too drunk and tired to drive so went back to the hotel for some coffee. He remembers drinking some coffee, and the next thing he remembers is being choked, dragged, pulled and the gun being taken out of his hand."

"Sirhan is adamant . . . consistent . . . that he doesn't remember anything after drinking the coffee and before being choked. He does remember being in the police car, and a man, later identified as Jess Unruh being with him, and the jail cell and various officers talking to him."

"And most of all — and this is a fixed obsession — he remembers the warning by police officers that he didn't have to say anything. Even giving his name, he felt, would be 'held against me.' He said he didn't know why he was there."

BUT HE apparently does now. As he sits at the counsel table he is paying more and more attention as the medical men line up on his side — all saying he is mentally ill, unable to maturely premeditate. He is quick to laugh and quick to anger, but his most consistent habit is nail biting — although his nails by this time must be nonexistent.

Although Dr. Dimond, who will return to the stand Monday at 9:30 a.m., was expected to be the last defense witness called, Sirhan's attorney, Russell Parsons said Friday, there is a "great possibility" that two more psychologists will be called before the defense finally rests.

At least one psychiatrist and several psychologists are to be called by the prosecution as rebuttal witnesses, giving speculation that the trial will last at least two more weeks.

Loner Gets $3,290 — A lone gunman handed a teller a note, displayed a revolver, then fled Friday with $3,290 from a Bank of America branch on Wilshire Boulevard without any customers knowing of the incident.

Sole Food Strike Will Affect All Censorship Here Effective, Subtle

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

If members of the Retail Clerks Union strike any supermarkets in the Southland it will be interpreted as a strike against all markets, the Food Employers Council warned Friday.

Robert K. Fox, president of the council, issued the warning to Joseph T. DeSilva, who has been acting as spokesman for two of three RCU locals bargaining as a unit.

Fox made the warning when he acknowledged a six-union faction within the RCU framework is near contract agreement with the markets.

"THERE IS a money package on the table," Fox said. "The six unions have made a proposal and we have made counterproposals. We are bargaining in good faith and some progress is being made."

The six-union faction is asking raises which range from $1.50 to $2 per hour over a three-year period. The three-union faction headed by DeSilva wants $1.75 per hour boosts in wages and fringe benefits spread over an 18-month period.

The Food Employers Council represents 1,100 Southland markets while the Retail Clerks Union represents about 44,000 clerks. Their five year contract expires on March 31.

Downtown Building

Fire swept a vacant two-story commercial building Friday in downtown Los Angeles. The blaze erupted on the second floor of the structure on East 7th Street. Residents of a hotel next to the building were evacuated during the blaze.

AUTHOR CLAIMS

Censorship Here Effective, Subtle

Censorship in America is usually subtle, but quite effective, the author of the satirical play, Mac-Bird, told a Cal-State Long Beach audience Friday.

"The most significant form of censorship comes before a book is actually written or an art work is actually created," playwright Barbara Garson said. "It's a kind of birth control."

"A writer knows that newspapers, magazines and publishing houses will usually print only a certain type of mass-consumption material, so he's less likely to do something creative."

8-Year-Old Dies After Car Mishap

An 8-year-old city of Orange girl died Friday morning in Children's Hospital of injuries suffered in a pedestrian-auto accident Thursday afternoon.

The victim, Patricia Eiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eiler, 125 W. Walnut Ave., was struck by a car police said was driven by Irene Elizabeth Groacke, 61, of 371 N. Cleveland St., Orange, while crossing Palm Avenue at Glassell Street.

In addition to her parents, the child is survived by five brothers and two sisters. Services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday in Eudaly Funeral Chapel, Orange, with interment in Fairhaven Memorial Park.

CRA to Approve Sex Education if Guidelines 'Firm'

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

SAN DIEGO — The surgeon-president of California's oldest volunteer Republican organization, the California Republican Assembly, said Friday he would have no objections to "proper" instruction to 12-year-olds about sexual intercourse.

Dr. Tirso Del Junco, of Huntington Harbour, thus indicated the probable tone of today's CRA seminar on sex education, a part of the 14,000-member group's three-day convention program here. About 1,000 delegates and alternates are expected.

THAT TONE, he told a Friday press conference, is opposition to the compulsory feature of sex education in the schools and to such education without "firm" ground rules and guidelines. He stressed opposition also to allowing just anybody on an elementary school faculty to be charged with such instruction.

Dr. Del Junco justified CRA's partisan political concern with a nonpartisan education matter because, he said, "It is the Assembly and the state Senate which write the laws that run our schools."

Del Junco expressed agreement with some of President Nixon's action, including the antiballistic missile program. But he took exception to some appointments, especially those of Nixon's assistant in foreign policy, Dr. Henry Kissinger, and HEW assistant James Farmer.

KISSINGER, Del Junco complained, was a leading dove and represented the antithesis of Nixon's campaign oratory. On Farmer, a Negro, Del Junco said such positions should go to minority group people who have been champions of the GOP, rather than to those, like Farmer, who have been at odds with Nixon.

The President of the militantly conservative CRA objected to the use of the word "traitor" for Assemblyman John Vene-man, R-Modesto, who left the GOP majority in precarious state when he resigned to join the Washington staff of HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch.

"He put personal ambition above the Republican party in California in that decision," said Del Junco, "and he left a great, great vacuum. But he well may be of great benefit to the party nationally." Democrats hope to achieve a 40-40 balance in a special election in Vene-man's district.

LT. GOV. ED Reinecke is the principal speaker at tonight's convention banquet. Also scheduled on today's program are Rep. Bob Wilson, R-San Diego, chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee, and state Sen. Clair Burgener, R-La Mesa.

CRA will elect its new state president Sunday. Only candidates to date are Bill Eberl, of San Francisco, a former CRA treasurer, and Jim Kerner, of Piedmont, a current CRA vice president. The race is expected to be close with the campaign being fought by partisans claiming a more liberal bent to Eberl than CRA should become accustomed to.

Seek Court Order Against Dockers

West Coast shipowners will probably return to court Monday to seek a temporary restraining order against longshoremen refusing to handle containers packed by Teamsters.

As the squabble between longshoremen and Teamsters completed its fifth day, the freighter Hawaiian Citizen was idled at the Matson terminal in Wilmington after union dockworkers refused to unload the vessel.

The tieup has affected about a dozen vessels in six West Coast ports from Seattle to Long Beach. The Pacific Maritime Association, representing ship owners, says tons of cargo have been delayed at a cost of $5,000 per ship per day. Longshoremen have been fired for refusing to unload cargo at several ports.

On Thursday, Judge Alfonso Zirpoli denied the PMA's first request for a restraining order against longshoremen, saying the issue required a full court hearing.

The PMA claims the International Longshoremen's and Warehouse-men's Union defied an order by arbitrator Sam Kagel to work the cargo containers "as directed by the employers."

Kagel held that the longshoremen are violating a no-strike clause in their contract in refusing to handle Teamster-loaded containers.

The longshoremen, who view the containerized cargo as a long-range threat to their jobs, want the right to pack as well as load and unload the containers.

The Hawaiian Citizen was idled in Los Angeles harbor Friday morning. Capt. John Van Orden, regional terminal manager for Matson Terminals Inc., said the ship carried two containers loaded with mail and 33 others loaded with perishable goods.

He said longshoremen, foremen and marine clerks refused his request to take off the mail and perishables.

Clerks and dockworkers fired Friday for balking at loading or unloading the containers raised the number of dismissals for the week at six ports to about 400.

ABM CLASH

sure they know and every witness outside the Pentagon knows it isn't any good," he said.

SEN. ALBERT GORE, D-Tenn., called the ABM "a defense in search of a mission" which was not needed, would "further endanger our security, make an armaments limitation agreement more difficult if not impossible to attain, and thus ultimately could degrade our deterrent."

From his hospital bed, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., issued a statement saying construction of the ABM system would accelerate the arms race and should be postponed for further study and debate for the rest of the year.

When Laird said the Russians had "virtually caught up with the United States in total numbers of land-based ICBMs," Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Clifford Case, R-N.J., questioned whether it wasn't a good time to start arms control negotiations rather than deploy an ABM system.

Laird said he favored arms talks but warned they might take years. "I don't want to give anyone watching here today the feeling that an agreement is just around the corner," he said.

Meanwhile, he added, the United States must act to protect its nuclear deterrent, primarily the 1,000 ICBMs housed in underground silos across the country.

As he did before the Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday, Laird referred repeatedly to the rapid Soviet build-up of SS9 ICBMs capable of delivering warheads of between 20 and 25 megatons, the equivalent of as much as 25 million tons of TNT.

"OUR OWN WARHEADS are only a fraction as large," he said, referring to the Minuteman's one-megaton power.

Asked why the United States chose smaller warheads, Laird replied: "We were going to a second-strike capability. With their large megatonnage, they were going for a first strike, and there is no question about that."

Fulbright, linking the ABM to the Vietnam war, accused the Nixon Administration of "playing a dangerous and tragic game" in Southeast Asia that is disilluminating voters who thought President Nixon would do something radical to end the war.

The increasing level of fighting in recent weeks is "inconsistent with the idea that we have any desire to talk peace," Fulbright said.

Laird replied that the administration was bargaining in good faith in Paris, publicly and privately, and added:

"We are hopeful we will be successful, but if we are not, I can assure you we will have an alternative approach as far as the war is concerned." He did not elaborate.

TO BUTRESS his case for the ABM, Laird made public previously classified Pentagon studies which he said showed there is no nuclear "parity" between the United States and the Soviet Union, even though each country has about 1,000 land-based ICBMs.

Because of the more powerful Soviet warheads and the more concentrated population and industrial areas in the United States, Laird said, the Russians could kill 55 per cent of the U.S. population with only 200 missiles.

By contrast, he said, the United States would have to deliver 1,200 warheads of the same power as the Russians to kill 45 per cent of the Soviet population.

BAJA TREMORS HIT 6 ON RICHTER SCALE

PASADENA (CNS) — Caltech seismologists reported Friday that the series of earthquakes which rattled Baja California for two days were stronger than originally thought.

The most forceful tremor registered an intensity of 6 on the Richter scale of 10 and could have caused damage in a populated area.

However, the center of the quakes is under water in the East Pacific rise, about 260 miles southeast of Los Angeles, between San Felipe and Santa Maria.

Max Wyss, geophysicist at Caltech, said the area is noted for "swarms" of such earth shocks.

He said the East Pacific rise is part of a system to which California's San Andreas fault is connected.

However, the Baja shocks—which began at 12:15 a.m. Thursday—are not seen as any threat to California.

Companies Warned of Race Bias

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz said Friday, "I expect to make no compromises" in enforcing federal regulations against racial discrimination on the job by government contractors.

However, he said voluntary efforts and persuasion are the best ways to ensure equal employment opportunities.

The secretary spoke to "Plans for Progress," a voluntary group of 441 major firms pledged to promote equal job opportunities.

Another speaker, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, told the group, which includes representatives of the nation's biggest corporations, that industry must give Negroes and other minority groups jobs at executive levels.

Agnew told the executives they should work to help set up businesses owned by racial minorities even though it means more competition for themselves.

He said the Small Business Administration last year made 5,000 loans for new businesses but about 90 per cent failed because they lacked the competitive financing, marketing and advertising available to big corporations.

The big mistake, Agnew said, was in trying to make businessmen out of them.

"When such a businessman fails," Agnew said, "it's not his failure, it's ours. We have not provided the existing opportunities available in big corporations to minorities."

them, and shook hands with each.

THEN HE STEPPED into the ocean — and so did a host of cameramen and Secret Service agents flanking the Chief Executive.

He told Santa Barbara officials that the oil problem "is much bigger than what happened here. It involved the use of our natural resources, and their conservation. I don't believe we have paid enough attention to this. We're going to do a better job than we have in the past," he pledged.

Nixon then explained that Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel had imposed stringent regulations to control drilling.

"Had these regulations been in effect when this blowout happened, this incident would not have occurred," he declared.

The new regulations call for more casing on wells drilled under the sea, and more frequent inspections.

"The Santa Barbara incident has touched the hearts of the nation," Nixon said.

It was obviously an important subject in Santa Barbara, Ion. As the President and his party began their walk back to their helicopters on the beach parking lot, a chorus of voices chanted "Get Oil Out." They were members of GOO, a Santa Barbara group aiming to ban all offshore oil operations.

THE PRESIDENT was to have flown into El Toro Marine Corps Air Station near Santa Ana before heading for his San Clemente retreat, but his staff persuaded him to by-pass the station because of foul weather.

His helicopter landed near the mansion, but all other craft were waved off.

By then, the sun was dropping beneath the sea's horizon, and the President and his First Lady quickly entered the sprawling residence.

Inside, it was work for Mr. Nixon, highlighted by conferences with cabinet officers and military chiefs on the Vietnam war.

Nixon, HST Enjoy Congenial Meet

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Harry S. Truman and President Nixon, once the bitterest of political foes, met Friday in an atmosphere of warm nostalgia.

It was the first meeting between the two since a 1964 Gridiron Club dinner in Washington and their first ever in Independence.

Nixon presented Truman his old White House piano, delighted him with an "off-key" rendition of the "Missouri Waltz" and praised him warmly for the part he played in the creation of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

Truman, mellowed by age since his "Give 'em hell" days when he once said meeting Nixon would "just start a fight," received the President with the special esteem he reserves for the man — be he Republican or Democrat — in the White House.

Nixon, accompanied by his wife, Pat, stopped off for a two-hour, sentimental visit with the 84-year-old former president and Mrs. Truman while en route from Washington to Southern California for the weekend.

Laguna Beach Mansion May Not Be for Nixon

United Press International White House sources Friday scotched reports that President Nixon is interested in buying a $750,000 64-room Laguna Beach castle overlooking the Pacific as a vacation retreat.

But a representative of owner Thomas A. Merrick said he had been contacted by a group of Orange County businessmen among others about purchase of the Bavarian-style cliff-top mansion.

"How serious this may be, I don't know," said real estate man Glenn W. Webb.

Both Webb and Merrick have said they had also met recently with Florida businessmen who expressed an interest in acquiring the mansion for Nixon's use.

The structure was built in 1932 by oil tycoon E. Walter Payne.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said the President plans to spend time in his native state but "I don't know if he's going to buy a house, rent a house or where he will stay. He has not made a decision."

mountain resorts reported good skiing conditions as snow levels dropped to 4,000 feet. Naples and Belmont Shire sections of Long Beach had a splattering of hail about 3 p.m.

Long Beach area coastal water temperature was 57 degrees, with winds mostly south to southwest between 12 and 22 knots expected for most of today. Westerly 18 to 28 knot winds were forecast for Sunday.

Weathermen said skies should begin clearing tonight, after a day of considerable cloudiness and scattered showers. Forecasts called for a few thundershowers today.

Lightning and thunder struck some sections of Los Angeles Friday.

Spring's first storm brought Long Beach's 1969 rainfall total to almost 24 inches as of late Friday.

Tax Relief Delay Seen in Nixon Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon Administration is planning a "three package" tax reform program that postpones relief for the average taxpayer at least a year, an Administration source said Friday.

Instead, the first package proposal which will probably go to Congress this year, will focus on closing loopholes used by wealthy individuals and corporations, the source said.

FAILURE to plan across the board tax reforms this year was laid to budget pressures caused by the Vietnam war, inflation and a critical shortage in the Treasury Department's tax staff.

In return for passing the 10 per cent income tax surcharge last year, Congress ordered the Johnson Administration to make tax reform proposals by December so the House Ways and Means Committee could act this year.

Proposals drafted by former Treasury Assistant Secretary Stanley S. Surrey last year were shelved by the Johnson Administration and sent to Congress last week without comment by the Nixon Administration.

The high government official said Nixon aides are now considering scrapping many of the Surrey approaches including an immediate increase in exemptions and deductions for the ordinary taxpayer.

IN THEIR place, the first package of tax reforms will clamp down on "hobby farmers" who use their agricultural enterprises to offset taxes on other income. They will also cover foundations set up to earn their founders tax breaks and tax regulations covering "conglomerates" — a corporation that owns a number of unrelated companies, he said.

The other two sets of proposals are expected to stretch into the first session of the 92nd Congress.

Items such as doubling the personal exemption from $600 to $1,200 or raising the 10 per cent standard deduction for expenses to 14 per cent will probably not be brought up until the second package is sent up, if at all, he added.

The third "package" will take in long-range changes in federal tax laws including estate and gift taxes, proposals for federal revenue sharing with the states and broad trade tax questions.

DESPITE plans to close loopholes for the wealthy, the source ruled out any immediate attempt to force a minimum tax on millionaires or big income earners who escape taxation by using charitable contributions and complicated accounting procedures to reduce what they owe.

The source noted that the tax problems of America's elderly citizens and low income earners are other pressing tax reform needs. But he said it will probably take the rest of the year to find the answers.

Powell Proceeding Costly to House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prestigious New York law firm representing the U.S. House of Representatives in its court battles with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., already has been paid $213,055.30 for its services, with prospects that the final bill will be twice as much.

The money went to Cravath, Swaine & Moore "for services rendered from March 13, 1967 until Feb. 1968," according to a brief entry in the latest statement of disbursements issued by the House Administration Committee.

The booklet covers the period from July 1, 1968 to Dec. 31, 1968. The bill was paid on Aug. 18, according to the records.

The notation was the first bit of information made public by House officials on the cost to the taxpayer of the legal battle stemming from the House's March 1, 1967 exclusion of Powell from the last Congress.

The entry carries a note that the disbursement covers only litigation through the U.S. Court of Appeals and does not include any of the work involved in defending the case to the Supreme Court.

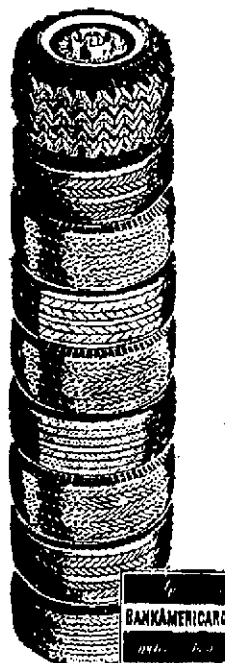

On May 28, 1968, Powell went to the Supreme Court to appeal the decisions against him in the lower courts. Since that time Cravath, Swaine & Moore attorneys have been busy answering the arguments made by the minister-politicians' lawyers.

The high court on Nov. 18 agreed to hear the case and the filing of briefs was completed only this week.

TOO RESTRICTIVE

Disaster Loan Plan Criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Small Business Administration officials Friday defended their official parsimony in doling out disaster loans to victims of recent floods in California.

But one official, testifying before the House flood control subcommittee on a California disaster relief bill, said it was his personal opinion that the program was "too restrictive."

Clarence Cowles, director of the SBA's office of disaster loans, said the program "very definitely" became more restrictive as a result of White House orders about a year ago.

AT FIRST, Cowles, said, it was thought the "change was due simply

Court Sees Video Tape of 'Mutiny'

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (UPI) — A video tape recording taken during a disturbance at the "Presidio" Stockade in San Francisco was admitted into evidence Friday in a court-martial despite defense objections that the recording could mislead the court.

Col John G. Lee, law officer for the trial, said the value of the recording as evidence outweighed any prejudicial effect on the five defendants.

LEE NOTED that his ruling may have been the first on the admissibility of video tape recordings in a military trial.

The recording was taken by S. Sgt. Steven C. Black, a military intelligence technician whose duty office happened to be next door to the stockade.

Black said he recorded the scene in the stockade in line with a "suggestion" from a superior officer in his chain of command. He declined to identify the officer on grounds military security was involved.

David W. Lowe, a defense attorney, objected to being denied the name of a "mysterious witness." He said he might want to call the officer to determine if there was any association between the unnamed officer and Lt. Col. Robert B. Campbell.

CAMPBELL, an intelligence officer at Ft. Lewis, is president of the court-martial board which will determine the guilt or innocence of the five defendants.

The video tape showed a band of prisoners sitting in a circle, singing and chanting. Many were holding their fingers up in a "V" symbol denoting peace.

A second seven-minute portion of the video tape recording showed prisoners sitting quietly while the military police methodically dragged or assisted other prisoners into the stockade.

Nixon Hunger Consultant Drawing $100 Per Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration has hired a $100-a-day consultant on hunger, it was learned Friday.

Robert B. Choate, who describes himself as a hunger crusader, has been a consultant on malnutrition since shortly after Nixon's inauguration.

Choate has been working with Secretary Robert H. Finch of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare on an average of several days a week at the rate of $100 a day, HEW sources said.

"I would guess I'll be around sporadically for a few months until the administration takes this on as a preoccupation," said Choate.

"I'm a businessman who likes to go on crusades,"

Viet Talks to Be Held in Private

PARIS (UPI) — Diplomatic observers predicted Friday that President Nixon soon would instruct his negotiators in Paris to set up private talks with the Communists to break the stalemate in the two month-old Vietnam conference.

Observers said the thorough review of the military and diplomatic situation in Vietnam and Paris now undertaken by the President will convince him more than ever before that only private talks—or talks in restricted committee—would speed up the conversations.

North Vietnamese diplomats said they have been always ready to meet American negotiators in private. But they cautioned it was not the opening of private talks that was important in their point of view.

Ray Reported Set to Meet Lawyers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Two attorneys, one long linked with the Ku Klux Klan, disclosed Friday night they may meet with James Earl Ray amid reports he may try for a new trial in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

J. B. Stoner, from Savannah, Ga., linked in the past with the Klan and the National States Rights Party, disclosed Friday night that he plans to see Ray about the possibility of filing a libel suit against a magazine.

About the same time, Arthur J. Hanes, the former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., who was Ray's original lawyer in the King case until Ray fired him in favor of Percy Foreman, said that he had a "very nice" letter from Ray and might meet him in the Tennessee State Prison today.

Hanes said he didn't know anything about the Stoner development.

Stoner was intercepted at Chattanooga, Tenn., when he stopped to visit

State Group OKs Reagan Revamping

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California "little Hoover" Commission has unanimously endorsed Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to abolish, transfer or consolidate the work of 31 state boards and commissions, it was announced Friday.

Chairman D. W. Holmes, Madera, said the eight-member group voted to back the reorganization plan at a meeting Thursday in Sacramento.

He said the program, which also called for creation of a department of navigation and ocean development, was "an enlightened and common sense approach toward increasing governmental efficiency."

4th Tarzana House Slips Down Hillside

TARZANA (CNS) — A house voluntarily evacuated by its owner Friday slipped more than five inches down the side of a hill here within a 30-minute period.

The house is the fourth on the street to be evacuated due to slippage within two days. Two others close by on Dunas Lane were evacuated Thursday.

All delegations seem to agree that the weekly plenary session are thoroughly unsuited for diplomatic bargaining. Attended by a total of 60 diplomats and aides sitting around a 22-foot round table, the sessions have been a series of monologues each lasting four to six hours.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Two attorneys, one long linked with the Ku Klux Klan, disclosed Friday night they may meet with James Earl Ray amid reports he may try for a new trial in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

J. B. Stoner, from Savannah, Ga., linked in the past with the Klan and the National States Rights Party, disclosed Friday night that he plans to see Ray about the possibility of filing a libel suit against a magazine.

About the same time, Arthur J. Hanes, the former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., who was Ray's original lawyer in the King case until Ray fired him in favor of Percy Foreman, said that he had a "very nice" letter from Ray and might meet him in the Tennessee State Prison today.

Hanes said he didn't know anything about the Stoner development.

Stoner was intercepted at Chattanooga, Tenn., when he stopped to visit

Chicano Protester Wounded

DENVER (AP) — One man was wounded by a shotgun birdshot blast late Friday afternoon as violence intensified in the second day of demonstrations for "Chicano Power" near Denver West High School.

Police Sgt. E. W. Horan said the victim was a demonstrator and the birdshot apparently was fired by "one of our men."

The wounded man was identified as Joseph Vigil, 26.

The entire day had been marked with unrest, after the arrest Thursday of about 25 persons—including 11 juveniles—after about 200 students walked out of West High School and began protesting alleged "racist" slurs against Mexican-Americans in the classroom by a teacher.

FOR REPAIRS They Will Dry The Niagara Falls

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The United States and Canada signed agreements here Friday to shut off the roar of mighty 1,000-foot-wide wall of water on the American side of Niagara Falls for up to six months.

The purpose in drying up the cataract known as the American Falls is to determine what if any "repairs" to the rock understructure are needed.

Engineers will drill test holes in the rock which has been subject to cracks and two massive slides in recent decades—in 1931 and again in 1954.

A SPOKESMAN for the Army Corps of Engineers said it would be the first time in history that man has stopped the American Falls.

The plan calls for building a rock and earth fill dam across the 600-foot wide channel about a half-mile upstream from the falls in order to divert the water.

The notes exchanged by representatives of the two countries in a brief ceremony at the State Department specify that the dam must be removed no later than Dec. 31 this year.

Friday's agreements grew out of recommendations by the American Falls International Board, consisting of experts from each country charged with finding ways to preserve and enhance the beauty of the falls.

THE TEMPORARY dam will be constructed from the American mainland to Goat Island in the Niagara River. Horseshoe Falls, the massive cataract mainly on the Canadian side, will not be affected except to receive some of the diverted water from the American falls.

Even though more than 90 per cent of Niagara's water flow is over the horseshoe falls, the wall of water over the American Falls is quite substantial—amounting to 60,000 to 75,000 gallons a second. Or as a corps of engineers official put it, "just imagine a railroad tank car being dumped over that precipice every second."

State Group OKs Reagan Revamping

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California "little Hoover" Commission has unanimously endorsed Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to abolish, transfer or consolidate the work of 31 state boards and commissions, it was announced Friday.

Chairman D. W. Holmes, Madera, said the eight-member group voted to back the reorganization plan at a meeting Thursday in Sacramento.

He said the program, which also called for creation of a department of navigation and ocean development, was "an enlightened and common sense approach toward increasing governmental efficiency."

Hayakawa Holds Penalties; April 11 Is Shape-up Day

Combined News Services
SAN FRANCISCO—Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College, Friday gave the Black Students Union and its allies until April 11 "to demonstrate their leadership in establishing peaceful conditions on campus."

He served notice at a news conference that he was waiting until then to decide whether to invoke major disciplinary penalties in the aftermath of the turbulent strike that hit the campus on Nov. 5. It ended with an agreement announced Thursday after a winter during which more than 600 arrests were made.

The little semanticist who has won nationwide attention with his "hard line" handling of the strike refused to withdraw police pending developments.

"I certainly do," he replied to a question whether he looked upon the campus as still in a state of emergency.

HAYAKAWA SAID that immediately after an agreement had been announced "misunderstandings and misinterpretations began to appear."

College administrators, faculty representatives and leaders of the striking Black Students Union and Third World Liberation Front signed a formal agreement Thursday to end their student strike.

However, Hayakawa maintained Friday that the agreement was essentially only a recommendation to him as acting president. Hayakawa, who promptly reopened the campus Dec. 2 after he took over as acting president, made it clear that while he accepted "the main conclusions concerning academic mat-

AFT Advocates Student Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the American Federation of Teachers called Friday for the creation of student unions to engage in orderly negotiations with college authorities.

The union president, David Selden, said the federal government should help establish such unions on a broad-based, multiracial basis.

"If such unions were developed on a credible self-governing basis, he said, 'students would have a peaceful outlet for legitimate protests.'" ters," such as a School of Ethnic Studies and Black Studies Department, he was not ready to accept amnesty clauses adopted by students.

"I think I should make it clear," he said, "that I have considered each of these recommendations with great care and can only say that I cannot agree prior to any hearing what the limits of the penalty for a given offense will be."

He would agree to none of the recommendations he said, until April 11, which he said was one month after the major agreement lines had been drawn.

THE NEGOTIATORS had recommended, for one thing, that there be no expulsions. Hayakawa said it was "possible" there might be expulsions. But he declared:

"From the few cases that have come to me for review, I can confirm that our faculty as disciplinary panel members are extraordinarily considerate. I shall follow their example by tempering justice with mercy."

He said his decisions with respect to two faculty members stood. One was that Dr. Nathan Hare, a black militant, had a contract that expires in June and that Hare would not head a black studies program in an ethnic studies school scheduled to operate next September. The other was that George Murray, an officer of the Black Panthers and a part-time instructor who is serving a jail term as a parole violator, would not be rehired.

Some dissenters from Hayakawa's decisions predicted that Hare, at least, would be connected somehow with the black studies program. The agreement provides that community groups will help choose the director and faculty for the new program.

Unprofessional conduct charges were brought by other faculty members against Hare after he jumped onto a stage and heckled Hayakawa. He was ushered off by police. Negro students had demanded that Hare be made a full professor, and his salary raised from $13,000 to $18,000 a year.

Negro students and the Third World Liberation Front—a coalition of other minority students—had also demanded that Murray, suspended for urging students to bring guns to campus, be reinstated.

TO COOL CAMPUSES Nixon Considers Riot Control Move

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON—Creation of a federal conciliation service to cool campus confrontations is under study by President Nixon, it was learned Friday.

The mediation plan may be part of a campus riot package expected to be announced today by the President at San Clemente.

A source at the Health Education & Welfare Dept. indicated that creation of a conciliation organization to help settle faculty and student disagreements with college administrators has been recommended to the President by HEW Secretary Robert Finch.

THE HOUSE special subcommittee on special education is studying a similar proposal, it was revealed Friday by its chairman, Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore.

Mrs. Green announced her subcommittee's interest in such a service as her panel quizzed administrators and faculty representatives from San Francisco State College, the scene of several bloody disorders in recent months.

During exchanges with both sides, Mrs. Green several times warned that the "far left is inviting repression" through the use of violence to seek its ends.

She said the subcommittee is working on proposals aimed at providing a simpler means for cutting off federal aid to student leaders of disruptive demonstrations. A proposal in this vein is expected to be announced by Nixon also.

FEDERAL AID cutoff proposals were sharply attacked in subcommittee testimony by David Selden, president of the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), and Prof. Leo C. McClatchey, head of the Academic Senate at San Francisco State.

Selden called such an approach "a step toward neo-McCarthyism in the United States. Although he opposed the aid termination proposal, he admitted that it would give colleges more flexibility than some plans that have been advanced.

McClatchey pleaded against measures such as the four bills approved early this week by the California Senate. One provides for prison terms of up to 5 years for campus militants.

"This type of gut reaction will really cause problems," McClatchey said.

REP. MARVIN Esch, R-Mich., also cautioned against overreaction, but said that colleges appear to be faced with "a new fascist left."

McClatchey blamed much of the trouble at his college on the administrative structure by which one board of trustees administers 18 schools.

Although he deplored the violence, he said it was a "catalyst" in activating the academic senates at other state colleges.

He said the state colleges board is made up almost entirely of middle-class-wealthy members and should have more representation by minorities and academic representatives.

He was challenged by Mrs. Green, who said she feels the San Francisco State faculty didn't meet its responsibilities in speaking out against student violence.

Urge Mills Add Ethnic Programs

OAKLAND (UPI)—About 50 women students at exclusive Mills College invaded the president's office Friday to make demands for ethnic studies programs.

The demonstrators included most of the school's 32 Negroes and a number of other minority groups.

They held college president Robert Wert a virtual prisoner in his office during a lengthy discussion of the demands. But police were not called and there was no violence.

The incident occurred following the appearance of Mrs. Kathleen Cleaver, wife of fugitive Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver, on the Mills campus.

Mrs. Cleaver had addressed a rally in support of the Black Students Union demands. The demands include establishment of an autonomous ethnic studies department and hiring of a black minority specialist.

UC Regents Vote to Study Hiring Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP)—University of California regents voted 14 to 8 Friday to give more study to a proposal for the board to control faculty hiring.

Gov. Ronald Reagan had urged immediate action, calling the delay or a compromise a proposal by UC President Charles J. Hitch and Assembly Speaker, Robert T. Monigan, R-Tracy, "not good enough."

The final vote came after the author of the proposal, regent Edwin W. Pauley of Los Angeles, withdrew it and said he would try again next month.

Hitch strongly opposed revoking university chancellors' three-year-old authority to hire faculty.

TRIP TO JAPAN FOR SISTER CITY COMMITTEE MEMBERS
Fred Ikeguchi (l.), Ken Austin (r.) Discuss Mission With Mayor Wade

Sister City Pair Plans Japan Good Will Tour

Two members of Long Beach's Yokkaichi Sister City Committee will leave for Japan next week as part of a 50-member "good will" tour of various sister city groups.

Ken Austin, chairman, and Fred Ikeguchi, member of the Yokkaichi committee, will take with them prizes for winners in the Japanese city's recent photographic contest.

Entries in the contest were sent to Long Beach, and winners were selected by a local judging panel. The winning photographs are now on display at the Chamber of Commerce, 121 Linden Ave.

The two-week tour is being taken by representatives of sister city committees from various communities in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area.

Austin said he and Ikeguchi also will check with Yokkaichi officials on final details of this summer's student-teacher exchange program.

A teacher and two Yokkaichi high school students, a boy and a girl, will come to Long Beach this summer for a one-month visit. On alternate years, a Long Beach teacher and two students make a similar trip to Yokkaichi.

Each of the visiting trio will stay with a Long Beach family while here, spending two weeks with one family and two weeks with another.

The office of Mayor Edwin W. Wade is now seeking families to serve as hosts to the Japanese visitors. Any family interested in hosting one of the trio for a two-week period is asked to get in touch with the mayor's office by Friday, April 11.

Water Board Urges Strict Pollution Laws, Big Fines

Recommendations calling for stiffer water-pollution laws including a fine of up to $8,000 per day for violators, were adopted this week by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The board meeting in Santa Rosa adopted recommendations made by a study panel which for nine months has reviewed the state's water pollution laws.

The panel proposed adding two more members who would represent the public-at-large on the seven-man regional water quality control boards.

the study panel's report to the Assembly Water Committee which is expected to hold hearings on the proposed new legislation starting next month.

Committee chairman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, introduced a bill on March 13 calling for the $8,000 per day fine. (Under the present water quality control laws there are no provisions for fining polluters.)

Kerry W. Mulligan, chairman, said Gov. Reagan had assured him, he would if necessary, send spokesmen to the hearings to testify in favor of the suggested amendments to the state's antipollution laws.

gan had assured him, he would if necessary, send spokesmen to the hearings to testify in favor of the suggested amendments to the state's antipollution laws.

SHOULD THE recommendation be incorporated into law passed by the state Legislature it would be the first major tightening of California's water pollution control laws in 21 years, Mulligan pointed out.

Year's Loss $111,364 at Lincoln Parking

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

The Lincoln Park Parking Garage suffered a net loss of $111,364 during the fiscal year ending last Nov. 30, and continues to fall deeper into the hole,

City Auditor Murray T. Courson said Friday.

Even after payment of the City of Long Beach's guarantee of $68,000 the net loss was $43,364, the annual audit revealed.

The total accumulated deficit, as of last Nov. 30, was $204,496, the audit said.

Courson said it is "apparent" from the audit that the financial position of the Lincoln Park Parking Corp. "continues to be unfavorable," and that the corporation will not be able to pay the bond indenture again this year.

In order to retire the bonded indebtedness and notes payable, which total $2,033,000, and to recover the $204,496 accumulated deficit, the garage would have to have an annual net income of about $124,300, Courson reported.

Based on a seven-day week, such annual revenues would have to approximate $1.70 per day, or $52 per month, for each of the garage's 488 available parking spaces, the audit said.

Current parking rates are 25 cents an hour with a maximum of $1 per day, or $15 a month, and the garage operates only six days a week, Courson pointed out.

OFFICERS EXPERIENCE JAIL 'HELL'

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

How do you find out what goes on in the mind of an ex-convict?

One way would be to go to jail.

That's exactly what happened to a group of California parole officers earlier this week. They all got out in time to report on their experiences at an institute session of the Parole and Community Services Division of the State Department of Corrections, held at the California Rehabilitation Center in Norco.

The conclusions of six men who were incarcerated overnight in Riverside County Jail was that "jail is hell."

The six were part of a group of about 40 parole agents from throughout the state embarked on a new and radically different method of training—experiencing the traumas their ex-convict clients undergo.

The agents swarmed through the Southland, trying their luck — disguised as ex-cons — getting jobs, obtaining aid, seeking overnight accommodations and other services regarded as norms for most of society but almost unobtainable by ex-felons.

ROBERT P. DEUPREE, COORDINATOR for the unorthodox program, said results of Wednesday's "feedback" from the agents would be the basis for his recommendation of "much wider use of this type of training."

Some of the agents showed up for Wednesday's recapping session in what appeared to be a state of shock. Most expressed amazement at the "system" parolees must face in returning to society.

The six who went to jail told of interminable hours spent in boredom.

"It seems," said one, "that all we did was wait—and wait."

"I figured I'd identify with the toughest guy in the tank," said another. "I watched at lunchtime and when I saw a guy get four pieces of meat, I decided he was the one. It worked out fine."

Riverside's jail is recognized as one of the best in the state, Deupree commented, but the best is still none too good.

"We were in a tank designed for 36 men," he said, "and I was about No. 60 to go in. There were 70 or 71 before they buttoned it up for the night."

"THE OTHER INMATES—HA! Other inmates—in the jail thought we were pretty strange, I guess. We weren't what they were used to. What they're used to is guys who come in and settle down for a long stay."

"We learned one thing well in there. You can't just dump a man in jail and walk away from him. Not if you're expecting to try and change his habits. Most of the men that go through the system will be coming back into society and the things that happen to them — in jails, in prisons, everything they meet — make it difficult, make it darn near impossible, for them to come back successfully."

Some of the other facets of parolee life in free society — examined by the agents in their roles as ex-felons — included:

— Welfare aid. Two couples seeking help found nearly opposite receptions in the offices they visited. In one, a worker offered temporary housing, carfare money and grocery funds plus leads on jobs for both a man and woman. In the other, the worker seemed inclined to deny aid because the couple said they were "out of state." Red tape was notably absent in both situations, however.

— Job requests. One man told of identifying himself as a recent parolee, out of work and nearly out of money. He was offered a $2.26 per hour job at a Wilmington cannery, arrangements were made for lodging at the Long Beach Volunteers of America facility and given a parting admonition to "smile a little."

— Food. Agents sent to the Union Rescue Mission in the heart of the Los Angeles skid row brought back the most repugnant stories. "Never send a parolee down there for anything," one agent said flatly. "It was like time stopped. We were surrounded by poor wretches. That's just hell on earth."

ANOTHER AGENT, ESSAYING the role of a paroled narcotics addict, dropped into an office of the state's Narcotic Addicts Outpatient Program to report. "Well," the agent said, "we have no halfway house here but you can go to the one in Hollywood." The "parolee" responded: "Not me. I don't want to get around these addicts." And the agent replied "That's the right attitude."

The group discussed the ramifications of their subterfuge, the convincing of people that they were parolees in order to view the system.

"We're going to take this all back to our offices and share it with other agents," said one. "It could mark a change in some of the ways we work."

Another said that training institutes "used to be regarded as dull. Nobody wanted to go on them. That's going to change after this session."

"It could be even better," another pointed out, "if we could get the supervisors and 10-year agents to go out on things like this."

"Maybe," another said, "it's a good idea to once in a while shut off the phone, clear off the desk and go out and get involved with the parolees."

And that, in effect, was what they did.

Probe of Marine Copter Crash Still Under Way

Investigation continued Friday into cause of the fatal plunge of a Marine Corps helicopter in an orange grove on the Irvine Ranch near Tustin, which killed three crewmen aboard.

The Marine Corps Air Station at El Toro identified the victims as Capt. Richard T. Carlson, 25, and Sgt. William H. Sloane, 23, Santa Ana, and Pfc. James L. Haney, 19, of Wichita, Kan.

Capt. Carlson's survivors include his widow, Cynthia, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tyrus G. Carlson, of Hutchinson, Kan.

Sgt. Sloane is survived by his widow, Dianne, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Sloan, of Indianapolis, Ind. Pfc. Haney's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Haney of Wichita.

Witnesses said the twin-engine "Sea Stallion" CH-53A craft, attached to Training Squadron 301 at the Santa Ana Marine Corps Air Facility, exploded on impact after apparently tumbling out of control.

Soviet Ship, Replete With Miniskirts, Here

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

Russia's oceanographic research ship Professor Deryugin arrived in Long Beach Harbor Friday with an unusual item aboard—miniskirts!

What's more, the miniskirts covered—barely—another item rarely found in Yankee crews—girls!

THE GIRLS aren't along for the ride, however. A knowledgeable expert from California's Department of Fish and Game said the ladies are sea-going cannery workers who skin, clean, fillet and can fish aboard the ship.

The expert, Capt. Walter H. Putnam, of the department's Fish and Game Patrol, said he wasn't sure just how many of the Soviet lasses are aboard the sparkling new vessel.

The Russians weren't saying, either.

Shortly after the five-month-old ship pulled in to the new Catalina Terminal under the Vincent Thomas Bridge in San Pedro, her skipper announced he doesn't plan to talk things over with American newsmen until Sunday.

THE COMMANDER of the ship—identified only by a doctor-type signature which port pilots said looked like Glauklim—told Dr. Alan R. Longhurst, director of the Fishery-Oceanographic Centre for the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, through an interpreter, that he was "afraid to open the vessel to visitors."

"I am afraid it would be like your Queen Mary," the Russian sea captain said. "We would have so many people on board we would not be able to find the ship."

The white-hulled, welded steel vessel arrived during a drizzling rain and gusty winds that spelled trouble for the port pilot attempting to dock the 279-foot motor vessel.

The ship is expected to remain in port for four or five days.

It will join three American oceanographic research vessels to conduct a census of Pacific hake which spawn off the coast of Southern California and Baja California during the spring.

$25,296 Tax Evasion Charge

Robert Wayne Brown, 55, who manufactures license plate frames in his Downey plant, was indicted Friday by the U.S. Grand Jury on charges of falsifying income tax returns.

The indictment alleged 10 counts of tax evasion from 1962 through 1966, involving failure to report $78,920.64 income, on which the Internal Revenue Service claimed $25,296.95 in taxes would be due for the five-year period.

Brown's plant is at 8241 Phlox St., Downey, and he lives at 517 Kevin Way, Placentia. He is to surrender Monday to U.S. Commissioner Arthur M. Bradley at Santa Ana.

Proud Mother Gets Medal for Slain Son

By BUCK LANIER
Staff Writer

A proud Costa Mesa mother received the Distinguished Service Cross for her dead son from General of the Army Omar N. Bradley under sullen skies Friday at Fort MacArthur.

Mrs. Jean Mangan brushed back her tears as the retired five-star officer presented the nation's second highest award for the deeds of Spec. 4 Michael R. Mangan, 23, a native Californian who grew up in Newport Beach.

Gen. Bradley, who was paid full military honors, also presented several other awards.

SPECIALIST MANGAN, an armed personnel carrier driver, was cited for his actions of Aug. 21, 1968, near Ben Cui, South Vietnam. His citation read, in part:

"... When the Communists began a human wave assault Mangan moved his vehicle to deliver the most effective firepower and began firing his antitank weapon at the enemy... As he maneuvered into a defensive position his vehicle was struck by a rocket, bursting into flames... He exposed himself to extinguish the fire and was shot in the arm and moved to another vehicle when a mortar destroyed his, aiding this driver with suppressive fire... Mangan ran through a hail of bullets to obtain needed ammunition... As he continued to fight he was mortally wounded while pumping out suppressive fire... His actions saved many lives..."

Gen. Bradley stepped back and removed his cap as he handed the DSC to Mrs. Mangan.

Spec. 5 William B. Langfitt, Long Beach, received the Bronze Star for work in a classified operation in South Vietnam from May through November, 1965. He is a former Independent Press-Telegram carrier.

GEN. BRADLEY is residing in Beverly Hills while serving as a consultant on a motion picture depicting Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s World War II exploits.

A former Army chief of staff, he also was an executive of the Bulova Watch Co.

Puzzle of Friday, March 21, Solved

PRISCILLA'S POP—By Al Vermeer

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Practical application is strongly needed during the coming year. If your greater potentials are to be fulfilled, associates ask for your assistance. You must pay close attention as to what and to whom you are lending your time and energy. Established relationships improve slowly. Today's natives are more peacefully intentioned than most Aries people. Many have distinguished themselves with a sense of humor.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do yourself the honors of a good appearance this morning. Then set about using the rest of the day in systematic future planning.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Higher rewards await any constructive effort today. Get up early and keep moving all day. Your health and morale improve. Devote the evening to meditation. Retire early.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Fill your self in with some grouch and let somebody else lead and do the talking and nerving, most of the evening. The evening will be time enough to be serious with plans for the next few days.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Find something special to do that helps the community in its expression of faith. Entertain friends and their associates. Contribute to your favorite charity.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22): There is a lot going on that you would miss by staying home. See what the neighborhood is up to. Be of assistance. The evening can be real fun once you slow down a bit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your spirits are improved as a result, perhaps, of indications of higher income. Get into the social mainstream of your community. Share in making it a happier place to live.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Self expression is more fluent today, particularly verbal. Travel is favored. Communications improve; try placing that delayed call or distant relatives again.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Make the formal amenities today, then use the opportunity to see or telephone people who are inaccessible all week. You may be able to make some unusually good arrangements to secure support for your activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Irritation will get you nothing but more of the same. Give up with positive thought early; decide that you will make the best of whatever is going on. Show your loved ones how you feel about them — it's a story that stands endless retelling.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are at an excellent starting point to improve your life and happiness. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Care in driving is important. Patience during misunderstandings over time pays off a millionfold in appreciation. After the meeting is straightened out, if you express it, temper with the opposite sex spoils everything.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The opportunities open now will shortly pass; so if you want anything at all that is presently available, move quickly today and tomorrow. In doubt? Go ahead.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

It's a matter of preference that determines which Japonica camellia flowers a person prefers. For instance, we like Debutante the lovely light pink, tight peony-form flowers. Then we grew Mrs. Carolyn Tuttle camellia!

Comparing the Tuttle variety with Debutante is like comparing a blonde with a fiery red head. The color of Tuttle and the larger shapo blossoms surpasses Debutante.

An arrangement shallow-dish container of Mrs. Carolyn Tuttle color combination of rose-coral and a dash of possible light orange showy flowers catches the visitors' eyes, then visitors exclaim, "What is the name of these gorgeous camellias?" even though another container of attractive Debutantes nearby.

THE TUTTLE variety tolerates up to half day of sun in milder southern areas.

So far, there aren't any distinctly fragrant camellias.

There are several that have a faint fragrance for a short time. An old variety, probably unobtainable now, the Caprice had a full peony-form white blossom and was noticeably fragrant when first picked. The more popular Jordan's Pride (Hermes) has semidouble pink petals with irregular white border and streaked deep pink flowers which have a faint sweet smell when they first open out.

One with slightly richer fragrance is Kramer's Supreme which has very rich full peony form blossoms. The arching branches lend themselves well for espaliering too. A half dozen blooms in a shallow arrangement dish in a room where there is no other fragrance present, causes one to seek the source of the faintly teasing scent.

Camellias are nearing the end of the blooming season. You'd better visit your local nursery soon to see the late-blooming varieties and buy some in case your camellias are the early or midseason flowering kind.

Feed camellias with an acid or camellia food now, if you didn't do it in February.

WHERE CAMELLIAS don't provide the distinctly strong and pleasing smell one might seek in flowers, grow gardenias which provide delightful rich sweet odor.

You can grow gardenias as easily as you can roses, fuchsias, or any other plants, provided you set them out properly. "Properly" means to mix some organic material with the soil dug out when making the hole in which to plant them.

Give gardenias plenty of water as needed. Feed them an acid food at monthly intervals from March on through September. They'll furnish several crops of fragrant white flowers during the summer. Soil must be thoroughly moist before feeding. Water in well afterwards.

Some gardeners don't realize that although gardenias are tropical plants and grow as large as oleanders, they stand both cold weather and summer heat. Usually they don't begin to flower until June.

We have seen the Mystery gardenia blooming in March near an apartment house swimming pool. The pool water was warm. The warmth and moisture from the water, plus the fence around the pool protected the plant from cold winds making it possible for it to bloom that early.

There are two varieties which are most dependable: Veitchi gardenia for shade or shade and sun, and Mystery gardenia for full, hot blazing sunlight (but not next to an additional heat reflecting wall or a driveway.)

GERMINATION

Experts in the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture advise that you have a clear understanding of the meaning of 'germination', an item on the label of a package of lawn seed. The percentage of germination is the percentage of the seeds that under favorable conditions can be expected to produce normal plants. For example, if you buy seed that is 100 per cent pure with only 50 per cent germination, you may just as well buy 50 per cent pure seed with 100 per cent germination. They would each grow the same number of plants.

ABBIE AND SLATS—By Raeburn Van Buren

DO IT NOW

A hygienic garden practice is to shower-bathe shrubs with sharp streams of water. The strong force of water dislodges old leaves nestling in branches. This discourages aphids, spider mites, thrips, and other pests from settling up housekeeping areas. These areas become maternity wards where the pests breed and multiply, then surge forth to attack finer foliage plants and flowers in the garden. Washing down the shrubs doesn't mean you won't have any pests at all. However, it helps to cut down on frequency of spraying for pests.

If some of your shrubs are growing poorly, check plant depth of ball of roots. If too deep in the ground, scrape off soil down to top layer of root ball, then barely cover the root-ball top with soil. Make a basin around the plant. If shrub top root-ball level is below ground level, you can even press some egg size stones into the ring bank of soil, to prevent soil on top of ground from washing into the basin and covering the plant.

Q.—Thank you for the recipes to preserve kumquats. I had very good results. What I need now is more fruit. My tree is small, the immature fruit is dropping off during this wet and cold period. I have several Easter lilies doing well in pots of commercial planting mix, but in the crown of each is a type of black mite or fungus. What can I use to control this.

A.—Not seeing the foliage or plant crowns, but having had similar experience, I would say these are aphids. Spray with insecticide spray that lists aphids among other pests it controls.

Q.—What exposure, temperature and fertilizer should I use to attain blooms by Easter?

A.—They should grow in mostly sun in your area, near heat-reflecting wall. About the only fertilizer to help them to bloom would be a liquid flower maker-fruit maker fertilizer containing less nitrogen than phosphoric acid and potash, but having equal parts of these, plus three trace minerals. The fertilizer will help but it won't force them to bloom by Easter. They will probably not bloom much before June.

It Will Take 10 Years to Clean Potomac

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It will take 10 years and $500 million to clean up pollution in the historic Potomac River and its tributaries, the Interior Department estimated Friday. The estimate was contained in a report prepared by the department's Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

'Breaking of the Dirty Movie Barrier'

By FREDERICK H. TREESH
UPI Senior Editor

NEW YORK -- By present legal definition, to be judged obscene a motion picture must exceed community standards of decency, be utterly without social value and appeal to prurient interest.

With the opening of the Swedish film "I Am Curious — Yellow", there remained little that could fail the test of that definition of obscenity embodied in a 1957 Supreme Court decision upholding the conviction of a book-seller. "I Am Curious" explicitly depicts sexual intercourse for the first time in a commercial film shown legally in the United States.

AN ACTOR and actress appear totally nude and engage in various sex acts that punctuate a laborious political plot concerned with nonviolence.

The film opened in two Manhattan theaters four months after the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled it could not be banned under the Supreme Court's vague definition of obscenity. The Court of Appeals overturned a lower court decision that supported a confiscation order by the U.S. Bureau of Customs.

It was a landmark event in the growing permissiveness in films, theater and books in America and the concurrent decline of censorship. The film now is being shown legally only in Sweden, Denmark and the United States. It has been censored in France, Germany and Great Britain and prohibited in liberal Norway.

Persons under 18 years of age are banned from the theaters in New York, with enforcement left to the theater managers.

Opponents of the film, who contend its showing erodes the nation's moral fiber, carried protests to Mayor John V. Lindsay, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, ler, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan and U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau.

Whether such visual erotica has any psychological effect on viewers is a largely unexplored question.

"THERE have been a devil of a lot of essays written — people sounding off — but precious little scientific research," said Dr. Paul Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Studies at the University of Indiana.

In limited studies, Dr. Gebhard said, his institute ascertained that sex offenders are less interested in pornography than the ordinary man in the street. "For people to be stimulated by reading and films they must have imagination. Most sex offenders lack this quality. They are action-oriented," Gebhard said.

Whether this "breaking of the dirty movie barrier" by the Swedes means there will be more depicting the sex act from Hollywood and abroad remains to be seen, UPI Hollywood correspondent Vernon Scott reported. He said American filmmakers are watching closely to see how the picture is accepted. U.S. films recently have treated nudity and homosexuality boldly but thus far have left intercourse to the viewers' imagination.

The Motion Picture Association of America has rated the "I Am Curious" X — Condemned — but has no power to ban or VIRGINIA WOOLF broke film taboo barriers in 1966, and since that time several more have fallen. Elizabeth Taylor won her second Oscar for her performance. Richard Burton did not win an award but the film was rated among the best of the year.

censor any film of 173 films rated since the guidelines were established last November, the association has branded only 7 as X films.

New York Attorney Richard Gallen, who defended "I Am Curious" in the action decided by the Court of Appeals, said he believes the film does go beyond contemporary community standards for judging obscenity.

But, he said, "You have to strike out on all three." Barney Rosset, president of Grove Press, distributor of "I Am Curious", contends it comes well within the provisions of the law. "It has social value," he said. "The over-all effect is not to appeal to prurient interests."

"It's not all that shocking," Rosset said. Opening day reviewers tended to agree:

"An exercise in tedium," commented Kathleen Carroll of the New York Daily News.

Vincent Canby of the New York Times said "the movie salvages the depiction of physical love from the scrap heap of exploitation, camp and stag films."

BOB WILLS, a legend in country music, will appear at Anaheim Convention Center for one performance only on March 30.

Chamber Music Program a Recital for Guitar, Piano

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

The eleventh event in this season's chamber music series at our Long Beach Museum of Art, Thursday night, was a program not of chamber music at all, but of solo pieces for guitar and for piano.

It was a joint recital by two young southern California artists, pianist Adrian Ruiz and guitarist Dennis Schuck, covering a repertorial gamut between 16th century lute music and Alberto Ginastera's still-novel Piano Sonata of 1952.

With the exception of pieces by Bach and Tansman, the ambience was Latin, Hispanic to be more specific. And it all made for a varied and colorful evening.

Ruiz, a contest-winning pianist from way back, who only last summer added to his medals one from the International Busoni Competition, climaxed the program with a rousing and articulate reading of the Ginastera work.

He offered also three famous examples of Iberianism: "Navarra," "La Maja y el Ruisenor," and "Triana," playing each with authority and fluency. Except for some occasional rhythmic deviousness, our only disappointment in Ruiz' performance was the instrument he used, a tubby-sounding piano ungratefully situated in the Museum's aurally bleak, curtainless main gallery.

At 21, guitarist Schuck, a student of Andres Segovia, plays cleanly (most of the time), but without the musician's personality he may develop later.

What he did best, Falla's "Miller's Dance," seemed to promise a great deal for his future. But the rest of his program,

PRODUCERS PLAN 'SHAME CAMPAIGN'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Independent Motion Picture Producers Association plans a "shame campaign" in which the public will be asked to protest lewd movies.

President Edward M. Finney told newsmen Wednesday the 32-member association produces only clean-cut movies and wants an end to those freely depicting sex, nudity, homosexuality, vulgarity and villains in the roles of heroes.

The association turns out about 20 films a year, about 5 per cent of the movies made in the United States, Finney said.

Fess Parker Buys Land for Frontier Park

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Fess Parker has purchased 320 acres in Boone County, Ky., as the site of an $18-million amusement park, Frontier Worlds.

Parker, star of the "Daniel Boone" television series, said the park will include an indoor sports area, 23 major rides and attractions and a theater.

THE PARK is scheduled for completion in 1971 and is expected to bring to Kentucky $180-million worth of tourist business over 10 years.

The land, located about 20 miles south of Cincinnati, was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Galen R. Berkshire.

ONE MORE TIME
Coach John Wooden offers words of advice to Lew Alcindor for final time as UCLA prepares for NCAA showdown with Purdue today. Championship game marks end of an era—it's Alcindor's final collegiate appearance.

HISTORIC SHOWDOWN

Can Bruins Mount Pedestal 3rd Time?

By LOEL SCHRADER, Staff Writer

LOUISVILLE — One of John Wooden's pet theories will undergo clinical observation today in Freedom Hall.

In a basketball sense, the validity of the UCLA coach's philosophy could be a matter of life or death for the Bruins.

For if Wooden's oft-stated opinion that "outside shooting won't beat you" can survive the long-range bombardment of Purdue's Rick Mount, the Bruins probably will conclude the Lew Alcindor era nearly as impeccably as predicted when the 7-1½ New Yorker enrolled at UCLA four years ago.

There would be a third successive national championship, a record since collegiate playdowns began 30 years ago, and only a pair of two-point regular season losses to mar Lew's record.

But Mount, as a pure shooter, is in a class with the best of the professionals. Falling backward off a cliff, he would be an even bet to hit the rim.

His 14-for-28 shooting performance in the Boilermakers' 92-65 destruction of North Carolina and UCLA's stumbling 85-82 win over Drake in the semifinals Thursday night have drastically altered thinking among tournament observers.

Some astute basketball people are suggesting the Boilermakers should be the favorite when they face off against the Bruins today.

UCLA's tumble from the ranks of basketball deity was prompted by its comic-proportions reaction to Drake's aggressive, pressing tactics Thursday night.

The Bruins revealed a previously hidden weakness at guard and a lack of composure in a stress situation.

Asked how the Bruins can best be beaten, he replied: "We'll play pretty much as Drake did and hope we shoot better from the perimeter."

"You have to forget about the middle. The big guy (Alcindor) takes that away from you. But we'll try to play as aggressively as Drake and gimmick up our defense against Alcindor."

King portrayed his centers (6-10 Jerry Johnson and 6-8 Frank Kaufman) as "turning green when they watched Alcindor in the first half against Drake."

Wooden pinpointed a source of major concern.

"It's extremely important to control the boards against Purdue," he said. "That way you can shut off their running game."

Who ever thought UCLA would reach a point in which it would be hoping for a reduction in tempo?

And it's ironic that Purdue, where Wooden was a three-time all-America, is standing in the way of its prodigal son's attempt to become the first coach to win five national collegiate championships.

It also would be pure irony if Alcindor were to go out in a blaze of defeat and sign with the American Basketball Assn. under the hoop at game's end.

Considering the zany events of Thursday, don't rule out any possibilities.

Joy in Prague -- Czechs Beat Russians

Combined News Services

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Czechoslovakia's ice hockey team, keyed to a few pitch, upset Russia, 2-0, Friday night in a world championship thriller filled with political overtones.

It was the first time the national teams had clashed since the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia last August.

A crowd of 8,000 in Stockholm's Johanneshov Ice Stadium waved Czech flags, roared for the Czech team and whistled and jeered the Russians.

Political overtones were evident from the start.

When the teams were presented from the rink, the Czechs turned away instead of skating up to greet their opponents. Police patrols in the stadium had to intervene at least once to silence too noisy demonstrators.

At the end of the game the Czechs lined up with the Russians and listened to the Czech National anthem, then skated off the rink without shaking hands with their opponents.

More than 500 cheering persons and several hundred cars with horns blaring jammed Wenceslas Square in Prague following Czechoslovakia's win.

Youngsters, parents and old people paraded up and down the sidewalks whistling or shouting, "We won, we won."

No police were in sight.

The loss left Russia, world champion for the last six years, sharing top place with Czechoslovakia and Sweden at the half-way mark of the double round-robin tournament.

Baylor Enjoys Rare Luxury as Lakers Storm by Hawks

By DOUG IVES, Staff Writer

Elgin Baylor, on his night of nights, enjoyed a rare luxury Friday for a superstar who must prove his greatness time and again in clutch situations.

For the final 12 minutes against the tough Atlanta Hawks he sat leisurely on the Laker bench and watched his teammates play out a game that was decided much earlier.

Baylor is used to pressure situations, but by the final stanza it had been a long, memorable night for him and the rest was a welcome relief for the 11-year veteran.

When Baylor left the court at the close of the third period the score was 89-68. There was no need for him to return as the Lakers romped 116-103 before a Forum crowd of 17,024.

mark on the game before he parted. The captain scored 21 points, including 11 in the second period when the Lakers broke open a tight contest to grab a 59-50 halftime lead.

Baylor added another seven points in the third stanza when the Lakers widened their lead to 21 points and that was it for the all-time all-pro.

It was the Lakers' 54th victory, tying their record set in 1961-62, and seldom have they looked better. Their fast-break was devastating at times and Wilt Chamberlain keyed a tough defense.

Chamberlain grabbed 28 rebounds and was the wheelhorse in the fast-break, while Jerry West wound up the middle man most of the time and had 13 assists even though he sat out the last 16½ minutes.

Seven Lakers scored in double figures, a season high. Baylor was tops with 21, followed by Chamberlain with 19 and West with 17. Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 22 points, 10 in the meaningless fourth period.

Walt Hazzard was the key Hawk, scoring 18 points in the first half.

Higgins a Free Man at Death

Combined News Services

DALLAS, Tex. — Michael (Pinky) Higgins, 59, former Boston Red Sox manager, died of a heart attack at St. Paul's Hospital Friday, two days after being paroled from prison on a negligent homicide charge.

A hospital spokesman said Higgins, who piloted the Red Sox from 1955 to 1959, died shortly after he was admitted to the emergency room at the hospital with a heart ailment.

Higgins was released from prison at St. Francisville, La. Wednesday after serving two months on a four-year sentence.

Higgins pleaded guilty to a charge that his automobile killed a highway worker in Louisiana February 1968. Police said Higgins was driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Under Louisiana law, a first offender may be considered for parole at any time if his sentence is less than five years. Higgins' prison term was delayed until January of this year because of two heart attacks which occurred after sentencing.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES
Elgin Baylor (left) was saluted by Laker teammate Tommy Hawkins and more than 17,000 fans on Elgin Baylor Night Friday at Forum. Chair, 100 years old, was given Elg by teammates for retirement days. It took 42 minutes to pay homage to 11-year NBA veteran.

ELGIN OVERWHELMED: 'Most Memorable Night'

It was the 879th time he had put on a Laker uniform, but for Elgin Baylor, March 21 is a date that will live forever in his bulging memory book.

Friday was Elgin Baylor night at the Forum and they all came — more than 17,000 fans, relatives and dignitaries — to salute the man many feel is the greatest player in the history of his sport.

It took 42 minutes to pay homage to the 11-year veteran and he reaped thousands of dollars in gifts and some well-chosen words from his teammates and contemporaries.

He also received two standing ovations.

"This is the most memorable night of my life," was Baylor's closing remark. From a man who has done it all on a basketball court, this was a mouthful.

Perhaps the most fitting comment was made by commissioner Walter Kennedy, who presented Elgin with a gold lifetime pass to future NBA games.

"Few men are legends in their sport," said Kennedy, "but Baylor is that and more, and he is still playing. Much of the growth of pro basketball is owed to Elgin."

In his fabulous career, Baylor had been named all-pro nine times, scored more than 20,000 points, grabbed in excess of 10,000 rebounds and has tallied more points in playoff games than any player in history.

Baylor's gifts included:

— A Buick GA 400 sports coupe from Laker owner Jack Kent Cooke.

— A gold watch and an antique chair from his teammates, the announcers and the trainers.

— A billiard table from Hixson-Jorgensen Advertising Agency, which represents the Laker sponsor, Richfield.

— A sterling silver coffee set and a portrait of Elgin's family from the Laker fan club, which also presented several scholarships in his name.

— A silver cup presented by Richie Guerin, coach of the Atlanta Hawks. Guerin, a 13-year NBA veteran, said of Baylor: "He is the greatest player I've played against and the greatest I've ever had the pleasure to watch perform."

Tommy Hawkins, who presented the watch and chair, called his teammate the most electrifying player the league has ever known. Hawkins also gave Baylor a plaque for his participation in Athletes for a Better America.

Jerry West praised the Laker captain by labeling him "the most inspirational player I've ever known."

Sharing the memorable evening with Baylor were his wife Ruby, son Alan and daughter Alison; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baylor, who were flown in from Washington, D.C.; his sister and several nieces and nephews.

Elgin also received numerous plaques and scrolls presented by Los Angeles and Inglewood City officials, and by various civic organizations.

Kings 'In' Playoffs... But Where?

While his rivals play the numbers game, Red Kelly prefers to leave it to the mathematicians. His game is hockey.

"I've never been able to pick a playoff spot," the King coach says, cooling off the panting observers who rate a team's playoff prospects as a matter of life or death.

The question of the hour is: Can the Kings finish in second place?

"I really think we have a shot at it now," Kelly said after Thursday's 4-2 win over Detroit which, it is suspected, caught him a bit by surprise.

Those two points were a windfall on the experts' projection and left the Kings in a position to make second place without outside assistance. But they must sweep their last two games with Oakland at the Forum tonight at 8 and up north Sunday night, then win or tie the two games-in-hand they hold on the Seals.

But Kelly knows about games-in-hand, which can trickle through one's fingers like fool's gold. The Kings once had six on the Seals but wound up farther back than ever.

Especially with Thursday's victory, the Kings have committed themselves to a shot at second place as against settling for fourth. Third place draws the St. Louis Blues in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The Kings have never won at St. Louis, which would have the home advantage.

On the other hand, they haven't lost to the Seals this season, winning four and losing two.

The Kings are no longer concerned about making the playoffs. If they win tonight and Minnesota loses to Philadelphia at home, they're in.

"In" where, though, is what makes it interesting.

Ram Rookies Drill Under Allen Today

The Rams will get an early line on next season's rookie crop when they stage a morning workout today at Cal State Long Beach.

Twenty-four players will be given physicals and then timed for 40 yards. Coach George Allen audibilized Friday, switching the session from Wilson High to the 49er field. The workout is closed to the public.

HIP 'NO BOTHER'

Palmer Has Piece of Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Ailing Arnold Palmer, apparently unbothered by the bursitis in his hip which forced him off the pro golf tour for several weeks, and U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino joined a six-way logjam lead Friday at the halfway point of the $100,000 Greater Jacksonville Open.

Palmer, Trevino, 20-year-old South African

Bobby Cole, Citrus Open champ Ken Still, Gardner Dickinson and first-round leader Lionel Hebert all had 6-under-par 138s after 36 holes for a one-stroke lead over a half-dozen runnersup.

"My hip didn't bother me at all; it was even better than Thursday," said Palmer, the golfing millionaire who will be 40 in September. "I was still keeping my fingers crossed. Today's round could have been a lot better but my iron shots are still ragged."

Trevino, who won at Tucson and took third earlier this week at Pensacola, pointed out that he has been a total of 43 strokes under par in his last 14 rounds of competition and thus his 69s here have been right on the mark.

"The reason I am working so hard is that I want to be in the Masters this year," Trevino said. "The secret of winning the Masters is putting and I want my putting sharp."

Palmer, who said Thursday that he believed his doctors had finally brought his bursitis under control, started out with three birdies on his first five holes Friday, then "I sort of fell asleep" as he bogeyed two of the next three.

He was still far down the leader board with five holes to go when he responded to his "army's" plea and found his birdie touch again, sinking putts of 12, 8 and 6 feet on alternate holes to close out in style.

Pro Tennis in Anaheim Center

A pro tennis tournament will be played April 25-27 in the Anaheim Convention Center Arena, promoter George MacCalli announced Friday at a press luncheon at the center.

World champion Rod Laver, Pancho Gonzales, Roy Emerson, Andres Gimeno, Earl Buchholz, Fred Stolle, Pancho Segura and Alex Olmedo will be the contestants in the three-night meet.

Tickets will be $2, $4, and $8. This will be the first net meet in the arena, which will seat 7,500 for tennis.

"Crew races," coach Bill Lockyer proudly states, "are never rained out."

Regardless, then, of weather conditions, Cal State Long Beach will make its 1969 crew debut this morning in rowing's answer to the Circus Circus.

Frosh, junior varsity and varsity 2,000-meter competition with St. Mary's will be intermingled with five club events and two races featuring girl rowers.

The first shell is scheduled for launch at 9 with the first race, a singles battle, to begin at 9:30. The varsity eights are expected to vie at 11:30.

The Mayor's Cup race, between a group of young ladies from CSLB's Shell and Oar Club and a national championship team from Mills College, should start at 10:30.

Another team of Shell and Oar girls will face an outstanding team of high school rowers from Oakland at 10.

AMID ALL the trimmings, the varsity eights should find all the action they want.

"I understand St. Mary's has the best team in the school's history," Lockyer says. "And I think we will be a little stronger this year. It should be a very interesting race."

49ers Face Pomona in Track Meet

Cal State Long Beach, which hasn't lost a track meet since 1968, will be favored to maintain its streak against Cal Poly Pomona today.

Field events will commence at 1:15 p.m. on the 49er campus facilities.

Cal Poly will look for first-place points from javelin thrower Frank San Filippo (232-3), pole vaulter Sam Marich (15-4), high jumper Jim Brown (6-6) and distance runner Bill Scruggs.

The 31st Easter Relays at Santa Barbara has drawn more than 1,000 entries, including squads from USC, UCLA, Stanford and California.

High schools open the competition at 8 a.m. Junior college and college events follow at 12:30 p.m. Club teams were not invited.

An all-comers meet will be held on the Cal State Long Beach track Sunday commencing at 12:30 p.m. Best season marks by Cal State athletes:

'WIN ONE FOR COUSY' Quarry Won't Dilly Dally

Jerry Quarry has family reasons for wanting a quick knockout against

"This fight won't go more than six rounds," said Quarry as he wound up his training Friday. "I want to make a plane to see my brother Mike fight in the National AAU tournament at Kansas City on Tuesday."

IT WILL never rival Notre Dame's "win one for the Gipper," but "win the last one for Bob Cousy" got pretty good play around the Boston College basketball team this week.

"Nineteen," now, but there's one to go," says guard Billy Evans, who typifies the extra incentive given the Eagles before they meet Temple today in the finals of the NIT. Cousy is retiring from coaching after six years at BC.

DANNY Grant should have been a happy guy. He had just broken a 16-year-old NHL record. Instead, he hung his head.

"What good is the record when you lose a game you need badly," sighed Grant.

Grant's goal for Minnesota was his 63rd point of the season, the most ever scored by a rookie. The old mark was 62 set in 1944-45 by Guy Bodnar for Toronto.

Oaks Tear Cubs Apart; Twins Win

United Press International
The Chicago Cubs had their three-game winning streak torn apart by Oakland Friday, 15-8.

With two out in the second inning, the Oaks came up with seven runs as 12 men went to bat.

Jim Paganioni was given an intentional walk to fill the bases and pitcher Chuck Dobson promptly doubled to begin the seven-run action. Six singles followed off starter Ken Holtzman and Pat Jacquez. Cub rookie, Jim Qualls, a second baseman, came up with a 4-4 day to give him a batting average of .643.

George Mitterwald came to the rescue of Minnesota in the ninth inning by singling home the winning run in a 3-2 victory over Kansas City.

It was the Twins' eighth win in nine games and marked the spring debut of Jim Kaat, who shut out the Royals with one hit over the three innings he worked. Rookie Chuck Manuel had a two-run homer and a pair of singles to keep his average close to .500.

The Chicago White Sox lost more than a 4-3 decision to the Boston Red Sox. Sydney O'Brien's homer off Bob Priddy in the ninth was the killer in the game, but earlier Chicago veteran Tommy McCraw sprained his left knee so badly he will be out of action for at least three weeks.

George Scott fell on top of McCraw as McCraw was sliding into third in the first inning.

AMOS OTIS, tagged as an "untouchable" by the New York Mets earlier this week, continued to have his troubles. He made two errors and ran his batting slump to 0 for 13 as the Mets bowed to the Cardinals, 5-3.

Otis' error in the seventh let in the two unearned runs that gave St. Louis its come-from-behind victory.

The champion Detroit Tigers took advantage of an error and two walks with the bases full in the ninth to defeat Philadelphia, 4-2. The Phillies had led 2-1, with both runs resulting from the bat of Deron Johnson, who had a homer and a single.

Al Kaline had three hits on the day, including his first homer.

Tony Perez broke up a 3-3 game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh by punching a game-winning single in the seventh to give the Reds a 5-3 verdict. Gary Nolan pitched the first six innings for the Reds and was nicked for two runs and six hits.

Cleveland's B outfit stumbled to a 10-9 win over Seattle, although the Pilots slammed five home runs.

Sebring Record by Mario, Amon

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Drivers of the Ferrari, Lola-Chevrolet and Porsche teams launched a mass assault on Sebring's course record Friday as the cars completed warm-ups for today's 12-hour endurance race.

Ferrari, storming back into world championship competition after a year's absence, sounded a warning note when Mario Andretti and Chris Amon rocketed around the 5.2-mile course at 116.868 miles an hour.

The Lola-Chevrolet was second swiftest at 116.34 m.p.h. It was driven by Mark Donohue and Ronnie Bucknum.

Martin

PROSPECTUS — Fiery Billy Martin promises to instill some motivation into a team that lacked it at times last season. Pitching staff, led by Dean Chance, is sound; infield will be stronger with Leo Cardenas plugging a nagging hole at second, and outfield, although aging, still packs punch. If Martin's tenacity rubs off, Twins could go all the way.

Chance

PITCHING — Chance was 16-16 last season, a poor year for him. Still, he's one of baseball's best. Jim Kaat (14-12) and Dave Boswell (10-13) back him up. Jim Perry (8-6) is No. 4 starter and Ron Perranoski anchors the bullpen. Rating: B Plus.

CATCHING — Thirty-six-year-old John Roseboro caught 135 games last season, but had poor year at plate (.216). Jerry Zimmerman will spell him if rookies Rick Dempsey and George Mitterwald don't. Rating: C.

INFIELD — Harmon Killebrew had one of his poorest seasons (.210 and 17 homers) last year, but remains a fixture at first. Cardenas, acquired from Cincinnati, will take over second base, a spot that has plagued the Twins in recent years. Rod Carew had third base locked up and Cesar Tovar will remain at short after .272 season. Rich Reese and Ron Clark are utilitymen. Rating: B Plus.

OUTFIELD — Tony Oliva dropped below .300 for the first time (.289), but still remains one of game's best hitters. Also a defensive plus in right. Bob Allison, at 35, is coming off fine '68 season (22 homers, 52 RBI's) and will stay in left. In center is Ted Uhlander (.282). Rating: B Plus.

ROOKIES TO WATCH — Outfielders Chuck Manuel and Herman Hill, both up from Charlotte, will get looks.

PREDICTED FINISH: 1ST IN WEST

VOW COURT ACTION Astros Rap Kuhn Over Trade Snafu

COCOA, Fla. (UPI) — The Houston Astro management Friday night blasted baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn's handling of a fouled-up trade between the Astros and Montreal Expos and said it would ignore his ruling and take the matter to the courts instead.

"We feel that the commissioner of baseball has ignored the rules, and since he is not going by the rules, we are not going to accept his ruling," said Spec Richardson, general manager of the Astros.

"We are taking this matter to the courts — all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary. We'll carry it all the way to Congress, too, to see that justice is done."

Kuhn ruled Friday that Rusty Staub would remain with the Expos and Jesus Alou with the Astros, and that the contract of Donn Clendenon would be returned to Montreal, where the club could seek to place him on the voluntarily retired list.

Staub was traded to the Expos for Clendenon and Alou, but Clendenon then announced his retirement — creating a snafu.

In singles, Paul Haber defeated defending champion Stuffy Singer of the Encino Health Club, 21-6, 21-13. Haber's opponent will be Bill Yambrick, who whipped former national champion Jimmy Jacobs, 21-4, 21-11.

WALSH STILL LOOKING FOR BIG BAT

Angels Bid to Secure Birds' Robbie

BY GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS — The Angels are looking for a bat. A big, big bat.

After failing in his bid to land home king Frank Howard, general manager Dick Walsh has a new target in mind. He's now looking fondly at Baltimore's Frank Robinson.

Robbie is the only player ever to be named MVP in both leagues and Walsh would dearly love for him to be the first to win it at Anaheim.

To land Robinson, though, would require a whopper.

"I called Harry Dalton (the Orioles' director of player personnel) to see what they'd need for Robbie," Walsh disclosed Friday while watching the Angels absorb a 3-0 blanking by the Cleveland Indians. "He said it'd take a bundle."

Just what Dalton means by "a bundle" isn't known but most likely he's talking about several players, including Tom Egan, Andy Messersmith and perhaps Rick Reichardt.

"If he's at all serious," Walsh added, "I told him I'd look things over and try to put together 'a bundle.'"

Bill Rigney, the Angels' manager, agrees one of the things needed most if the Halos are going to make a sincere run at the American League West title is more punch.

"We need someone who can score a guy from first," Rigney explained. However, it might be that the Angels already have such a guy in camp. "Tom Egan has got some sting," smiled the manager, "but we'll find out in the next 10 days if he's major league catcher."

Egan drew a blank in three tries Friday against the Indians, his spring bat mark dropping from .440 to .392.

"No, he didn't have too good a day," admitted Rigney, "but none of our hitters were very good," he added, noting the Halos managed only four hits off the Tribe's Sam McDowell and Jack Hamilton.

A DAY TO REMEMBER

Senator Joseph M. Kennick (left) of Long Beach presents resolution drafted by California State Legislature to smiling Mickey Thompson Friday in ceremonies at Reef Restaurant. Resolution cited Thompson for "his many contributions to the auto industry and to the youth of the state."

'HELPS YOUTH' Mickey Thompson Honored by State

Mickey Thompson, who in 1960 became the fastest man on wheels when he powered his Challenger I over the Bonneville Salt Flats at 406.60 mph, is a hard man to slow down.

Friday a select few of his personal friends and acquaintances accomplished the impossible. They stopped him — cold.

Lured to the Reef Restaurant under the guise of helping to entertain several youngsters, Thompson arrived with two huge stuffed animals under each arm. He entered the banquet room and was taken aback when familiar faces greeted him.

They were there to honor the man who has devoted a lifetime to the youth of America and to the betterment of auto racing across the country.

It was Thompson's guiding force which led to the establishment of sanctioned drag racing strips in the middle 1950s, taking the youth off the streets and making it a safer, competitive sport.

Senator Joseph M. Kennick of Long Beach presented a resolution adopted by the California Legislature citing the accomplishments. Long Beach City Councilman Enmit Sullivan followed by awarding Thompson a key to the City of Long Beach.

"I'm not surprised very often," said a tearful Thompson. "I've been given a lot of credit I really don't deserve. Mine has been only a very small contribution to the overall picture."

Senator Kennick injected his comments. "Just after this resolution was adopted my secretary's 8-year-old son came into the office and noticed the brief on the desk. The boy said, 'I know Mickey Thompson, he's in my motor book. He's a great guy.'"

Good pitching doesn't scare Egan. "They still have to get it over," smiled the good-looking former El Rancho High bonus ace. "A good pitcher is going to have better control and get the ball over. From that standpoint it's better. But I don't care who they pitch."

Egan spent the winter months in Arizona under the watchful eye of batting instructor Chuck Tanner, now the manager of the Angels' Pacific Coast League farm club at Hawaii.

"From the end of the season until Dec. 1, I was hitting four hours every day," said Tom. "That's a lot of hitting. But it's helped. I know that. Chuck slowed me up a lot and it's keeping me from lunging at the ball."

Egan had a dismal 1968 season, hitting only .192 at Seattle of the PCL. But he's been the excitement of the spring thus far. His two homers are tops for the club and he's also lashed out four doubles.

Says Tom: "I know I can help this club."

The big bat was missing Friday as the Angels failed to muster much of anything against the Indians, suffering their first loss at their Palm Springs base.

Aurelio Rodriguez hiked his spring average to .279 with two of the Halos' four hits, a triple and a double.

ANGEL ANGLES: Today the Glanville arrived at the start of a two-game weekend. Jim McGlothlin stars for the Angels. Ray Sadecki for San Francisco. Sunday's starters will be George Brunel for the Angels, Gaylor Perry for the Indians. Both games will be televised on KTLA 51. The Angels and Indians split their two games last week in Phoenix.

Duke Sims, who had a lousy day Thursday with two errors and no hits in four at bats, got even with a bases-empty home run Friday for Cleveland.

Tom Murphy was impressive in his five innings, allowing the Indians only three hits and no runs. Rick Clark gave up the three runs to absorb the loss, his spring record now 2-1. Sam McDowell hurled five strong innings for Cleveland and former Angel Jack Hamilton permitted only one hit the final four rounds.

Tickets for the Angels' two exhibition games at Anaheim are on sale daily at the Big A box office. The Angels host the Dodgers Thursday, April 6, and Oakland Sunday, April 6.

The Angels' spring record now is 7-7.

INTERVIEW WITH MSGR. ERNEST J. GUALDERON

New St. Anthony's Pastor Gives Views on City, Parish, Youth, Birth Control

By LES RODNEY

When football practice started at Ohio State last season, Coach Paul Brown looked around and asked one of his assistants, "Where's this fellow Gualderon?" He was referring to a speedy halfback who had come to Columbus on a football scholarship and had looked pretty good playing with the freshman team the previous season.

"Gualderon? He's gone. Went to a seminary," was the reply.

"What the h... did he do THAT for?" asked the startled coach.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Ernest J. Gualderon, by his own chuckling admission no longer very fast afoot, pondered the coach's question some 30 years later in the rectory adjoining old St. Anthony's Church on Olive Street.

"If you ask me why I left college for the seminary, it would be hard to explain. It's hard to go back and put something like that into words."

THE STRONG-FACED, blue eyed priest, an Akron, Ohio native of Tyrolean and Alsatian descent, speaks that way — conversationally, without any roundhouse pomposity.

He has been pastor at Long Beach's "daddy" Roman Catholic parish since September, when he was consecrated as successor to the late Msgr. Bernard J. Dolan. He made the move from Los Angeles, where he had been an administrator in the south central district, and also worked closely with young people in the archdiocese scouting and camping programs.

He likes what he has seen here.

"I didn't know Long Beach before, really," he said. "Oh, I had stopped here on visits, that's all."

"I get the feeling this is an up and coming area, moving ahead? It's good to be in a city that's planning on improvements, such as the development along the ocean front. And the Queen Mary is bound to be a tremendous attraction. I think more than some people realize."

"Long Beach is making its own mark," he emphasized with the smile of one aware of a historic image problem.

Msgr. Gualderon also noted an atmosphere of cordial relations between faiths, in meetings with local rabbis and Protestant ministers. "So far as I can see, there is none of the old hostility and suspicion which we hear about from the past. It's just not there. In fact, everyone in the city has made me feel at home. Following someone like Msgr. Dolan, who was here 30 years, this is naturally most gratifying to me."

THE ST. ANTHONY'S parish dates back to 1902 and helped start most of the city's other 12 Roman Catholic churches. It maintains a bustling elementary school, girls and boys high schools. The latter's varsity teams won't find many more avid fans than the monsignor, who maintains a keen interest in sports. "I'm a USC fan. I hope saying that doesn't make me any enemies here!"

MSGR. GUALDERON
'The Men Amaze Me...'

As for the parish itself, the new pastor says he got from it the strong feeling of stability.

"In this sense," he amplifies. "There is a tremendous amount of spirituality. I'm impressed by the men. The caliber of the men here does not cease to amaze me."

Msgr. Gualderon sees no evidence here of a supposed national wave of secularism and wavering church loyalties. "I can only go by the number of people who attend Mass and receive the sacraments of the faith, complete families, with all age groups represented."

While he did not comment on the dispute which resulted in the departure of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Sisters from the archdiocese schools, Msgr. Gualderon said the St. Anthony's schools, in their first year without the IHM sisters, "have recovered from their loss, and are now doing just fine again." Nuns from other orders and qualified lay teachers have combined to fill the vacancies.

THE PASTOR'S view of today's youth problems is that some of them have to stem from the home.

"That is where you have to look for answers when there are problems — to see if the parents are giving the youngsters the opportunities our parents gave us — to develop our character and resources."

"It's a materialistic and affluent society," he continued with a little shrug of inevitability. "A certain amount of deterioration is natural when you have that. No I believe that a majority of the young people are seeking more spiritual content in life. They should be helped to find it."

"That's what we try to do at St. Anthony's."

BOOKS

On Russians and Religion

Religious and Anti-Religious Thought in Russia. By George L. Kline, University of Chicago Press, $7.50.

Bryn Mawr philosophy professor Kline examines 10 Russian thinkers and their widely differing attitudes on religion. He discusses Bakunin and Tolstoy, and their criticisms of organized religion; Leontyev and Rozanov, neo-conservatives but deeply dissatisfied with Christianity as it had become; the religious existentialists Shestov and Berdyaev; Lunacharski and Gorky, who wanted to establish a "religion of socialism;" Plekhanov, who viewed religion as superstition, and Lenin, who saw it as a weapon of capitalism... N.H.

A shortage of young men and women entering the vocations, relative to the needs of the still increasing Catholic population, he believes, "and within the next two or three years should be overcome."

The controversy around Pope Paul's encyclical on birth control is not a complicated topic for Msgr. Gualderon.

"This may not be the most popular thing to say so far as some people are concerned," he said, "but the Holy Father said nothing more than what we already knew. As I see it, he was speaking about God's law. It was just a restatement of the eternal principle."

AND AS ONE who worked with James Francis Cardinal McIntyre in archdiocese matters, Msgr. Gualderon is not at all loath to give his estimate of the sometimes controversial cardinal.

"He is a great man," he said simply. "I think he has done more for the church in Southern California than people realize, more than he himself lets on."

"If you want to talk about the underprivileged areas, I was an administrator for two years in the south central area, and I know how actively he supports those parishes, and his concern for all the people there. Don't forget the two high schools built there. The cardinal has been generous without publicity."

"People may not know this. All they know is that some things are not done immediately. Cardinal McIntyre is not 'backward,' as some have called him. Unless not caring about publicity for the things he does can be called backward."

CRUSADER

Robert Debolt of Oklahoma will be guest for opening service of the Southern Baptist "Crusade of the Americas" Sunday, 10:45 a.m. in First Southern Baptist of Lakewood, 6540 Del Amo Blvd., with an evening service at 7:30. He was ordained a deacon before he was 20, served as a staff sergeant in the Army. Crusade by America's largest Protestant denomination is a great evangelistic effort in Central and South America.

Abilities Should Set Minister Pay, Methodists Feel

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

The traditional Protestant system of paying pastors is under heavy attack in the United Methodist Church.

Support is building for a new approach under which a minister's income would be determined by his ability, training and experience rather than by the financial resources of the congregation he serves.

Proponents say this not only would be more equitable, but also would enable the church to send its best men to the places they're needed most.

At present, in the United Methodist Church and most other Protestant denominations, a minister's salary is fixed and paid by the congregation he serves. If the congregation is large, wealthy or generous, he may get upwards of $15,000 a year. If it's small, poor or stingy, he may have to struggle along on less than $4,000 a year.

THE WEAKNESSES of this system were outlined by a prominent United Methodist pastor, Rev. C. Ebb Munden of Lincoln, Neb., in a recent issue of the denomination's magazine for ministers, Christian Advocate.

Dr. Munden (who has no personal axe to grind, since he's the well-paid pastor of a large and prosperous church) argued that as things now stand, "we are often unable to put our best men where they are most needed."

He said ministers of exceptional ability are clearly needed in many situations where the people being served have little or no ability to pay. He cited, as examples, churches in inner city poverty areas; churches in rural areas with declining population; and college chaplaincies.

"Under our present system no minister can for long remain in these places of critical need without sacrificing his opportunity for professional advancement and jeopardizing his family's security," he said.

"Now there is nothing wrong with ministers making sacrifices for the fulfillment of their calling. But such sacrifices should be shared by the church as a whole — including their fellow ministers."

Dr. Munden proposed that ministers be given salary classifications, similar to those of the Federal Civil Service, based on ability, training and experience.

Each United Methodist Conference (a regional division of the church roughly comparable to a diocese or presbytery) would determine annually what salaries would be paid to all ministers in each classification, regardless of their current assignment.

FROM THE PULPIT
There are many lessons in life that have to be learned in different schools. All of the knowledge in all of the books will never teach some lessons. They have to be learned by experience. We learn, if nothing else, that some things do not work.
Someone has said, "When all else fails, try God." Why wait until then? Why not try the new-fangled God of all eternities before the birds and disappointments of life leave their scars?
Nothing is right until the heart is right with God. Nothing else works on a permanent basis. There is only one successful plan for your life. There is only one bridge into the City of God.

Forget Yourself and Fear Departs

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Sometimes you have to do some fast thinking. I recall as a young man, two or three years out of college, I suddenly found myself one day in a predicament requiring this fast thinking, and courage too.

It was several years after the end of World War I. Having seen service in the war, I had been designated the American Legion's chaplain for Kings County, New York. In this capacity I was asked to give the invocation at a Memorial Day meeting in Prospect Park.

A big crowd was expected, but I figured I could handle the few sentences of an invocation even though I was very young. I did not reckon, however, on the huge crowd that gathered on that occasion. Approaching the designated area of Prospect Park, I asked a police officer how many people were there. "Oh," he said, "about fifty thousand."

I proceeded to the platform and introduced myself to the chief speaker of the day, Teddy Roosevelt's son, Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. (who later served in World War II with the rank of general and gave his life for his country). I informed him that I was the person scheduled to give the invocation.

THEN I SAT down, picked up the program and examined it. To my consternation I saw I wasn't listed for an invocation at all. Instead, believe it or not, I was down for a speech just preceding Col. Roosevelt's talk. The program read "Norman Vincent Peale, Chaplain of the American Legion of Kings County, will deliver an address." I gulped. Indeed I froze. I had no speech prepared. What was I to do?

I walked over to Col. Roosevelt and chattered, "Colonel, there's been a big mistake. I was just asked to give the invocation, but look at this program; they have me down for a speech."

"Well," he said, "if you are down for a speech I guess you will just have to give one."

"But," I protested, "Colonel, I just can't. To make a speech you have to be prepared. I'm not. I can't do it. Somebody else will have to speak."

He looked me over appraisingly. "What's the matter, son?" he asked. "Are you afraid?"

"Afraid! That's not the half of it!" I frankly acknowledged. "A huge crowd like this scares the life out of me! And anyway, how can I think up a speech in the next few minutes? It just isn't in the cards!"

Lively End for 'Sodom' Debate

(The following comments on "Days of Sodom and Gomorrah" Back, Says Biola President" received after deadline last week, will wind up the discussion on the views of Dr. Samuel H. Sutherland.)

Editor:
It is easy to criticize Dr. Sutherland's indictment of present day society, and to call it exaggerated and puritanical and all that. If you are in the field of social work, and see some of the tragedies that result from the breakdown of morality, you say three cheers for speaking out.

It is better to have perhaps a little exaggeration than to pretend there is no breakdown in morals. My thanks to him, and to your paper for having the guts to print his message.

Social Worker
Long Beach

Editor:
It is with the joy of Job's old warhorse that I offer battle to Dr. Sutherland. When he asserts that "producers know full well that the American public would never pay to see a good, clean, wholesome picture," it becomes obvious that the poor man is quite divorced from today's reality, evidently not having heard about "The Sound of Music" and other such box office bonanzas.

Similarly he seems unaware that many — the silent majority! — of the young-middle aged Americans today do not indulge in "total promiscuity."

What HAS alienated increasing numbers of young people from the Judeo-Christian heritage is precisely what Dr. Sutherland represents. The dishonored concept of a vengeful Jehovah orbiting

His particular Fundamentalist spire, awaiting His next chance to zap a feckless sinner. Christianity at its least compassionate!

I happen to be most active in an underground congregation — which a pastoral call confirmed was a more useful ministry than membership in a typical self-satisfied, lily white congregation. To help suicides on-the-installment plan to stop short of final disaster, we don't dare use the word "God" for some time until the lost sheep has had a chance to develop a new understanding of and relationship with the Creator — it having been the failure of the Old Testament-cum-Puritan deity that caused these folks to get lost in the first place.

Witness the religion page's own adjoining story on churches that own liquor stores and racetracks! Let Dr. Sutherland attack THERE, in an arena he knows something about.

not lead our communions to eventual merger."

The ABC, the former "Northern Baptists," numbers more than 1½ million members in over 6,000 churches. The Brethren, 225,000 strong in 1,100 churches, were originally called "German Baptists," but have long left that ethnic connection behind. They hold no other creed than the New Testament, and much like the Quakers and Mennonites stress temperance, pacifism and Christian witness on the social scene. Their colleges include La Verne in California, McPherson of Kansas, Juniata of Pennsylvania, Ashland of Ohio and Bridgeway of Virginia.

in. Their local affiliate is First Church on Magnolia, pastored by Rev. C. LeRoy Doty Jr.

The ABC, of course, is a national "powerhouse," with a major impact in seminaries, colleges (and political leaders) throughout the country. There are 10 churches in the immediate Long Beach vicinity affiliated with the ABC.

TELE-VUES

Affectation Put in Class by Itself

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

I always thought that Alex Dreier and George Putnam were about as dramatic as you could get in presenting commentary on television.

That is until a chance viewing of Ch. 5's hour news report at 10 p.m., Thursday.

Putnam, who left the channel to go to Ch. 11, was replaced by a man named Paul Harvey whose television posturing is in a class of its own.

I thought for a moment a mistake had been made and a clip from a play had been inserted. But no, Harvey's segment, taped, dealt with the teasing question of "if you call a doctor in the middle of the night will you be able to get one?"

BUT THIS was no standard variety show series of jokes about doctors. This was a peculiar argument against Medicare noting that there are relatively few doctors available for the large numbers of patients; that you pay for Medicare, but the state "can't give you services" or guarantee you a doctor, with the implication that it's a kind of hoax on the taxpayers, throwing in such comment, in connection with the doctor shortage, as "who wants to be a bureaucrat," in an attempt to imply that the doctor shortage is due to Medicare.

It was clearly labeled personal opinion, but just for the record I quote from the Winter Issue of Northwestern Review, published by Northwestern University.

In the section devoted to noted alumnae, this item appears:

"Dr. Malcolm C. Todd (Medical '38) is a political conservative who admires Ronald Reagan and Richard Nixon (he served as Mr. Nixon's personal physician during four campaigns). But Dr. Todd takes a liberal view of medicareconomics. He says that Medicare and California's Medi-Cal 'herald a new era of medical practice'; and that 'like it or not, we are now living in a time when public responsibility is replacing our traditional individual responsibility for health care.' With these opinions on record, last year he was named president of the California Medical Association, the largest in the U.S. with 24,000 members."

THE INSTITUTE of Lifetime Learning at Long Beach, a service of the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association, has cited Ch. 28 for an interview conducted by the station's Dr. Keith Bervick called "The Middle Years."

Long Beach's Sally Kellerman, John Randolph, Robert Elms, Mannix rekindles an old romance — and gets involved with murder — while trying to prove a publisher's daughter is being framed in a hit-run death.

casting Co. (Ch. 2) expands its Morning News with Joseph Benti to one hour, 7 to 8 a.m. daily, starting Monday. With Benti will be John Hart, Hughes Rudd, meteorologist Gordon Barnes and reports from CBS world correspondents.

Ch. 2's Cleo Roberts, has been assigned to cover Israel and the Middle East. He'll report on "The Big News" and "11 O'Clock Report" and a KNXT news special next month.

COMEDIAN Scoey Mitchell, who uses three Ls in his last name because it's good publicity, according to the ABC-TV publicity enlivened a warm-up of "What It All About, World?" recently by advising a baldheaded man in the audience: "I've got a cure for baldness, sir. It's a special kind of ointment from Africa. It won't grow hair, but it shrinks the head so the bald spot practically disappears."

HARBOR CHEVROLET

Long Beach is becoming better known all the time as a city in which is held many popular and important events.

The pigeon-fanciers from all parts of the country are now meeting here, and it reminds me of a friend who formerly raced pigeons. He holds the world's record yet after two of his birds flew from Winnipeg to Vancouver in 27 hours and 46 minutes. However, it took them 2 months to return—YOU SEE, THE WEATHER WAS SO NICE—THEY DECIDED TO WALK BACK!!!

Folks, don't you wait 2 months to come in and take advantage of our low prices on new and used cars. Ask for Larry Meder at Harbor Chevrolet, LA 6-3341, 3770 Cherry. I'll sell you one cheap!.
